Destroy Bridges and Roads in Retreat

Nazis Flee Caucasus in Disorder

Last Train From Berlin

By Howard K. Smith

OUT OF THE PANZERS BY CHRISTMAS

TO UNDERSTAND how big Dr. Dietrich's story was one must remember the circumstances. This was the first substantial news about the mighty, new offensive. It came directly from Adolf Hitler himself, and could not be doubted. Dietrich continued: Behind the two pockets there stood between the German armies and Moscow just so much space and nothing more. As one correspondent later put it, Dietrich indicated that between Germany and the complete conquest of the untold riches of Russia there remained only "the time it takes man and machine to cover the given distance." After seven short days, the Fuehrer's offensive had smashed the Red army to splinters, the decision was reached and the eastern continent lay, like a limp virgin in the mighty arms of the lustful, hungry German Mars. ". . . And on that, Gentlemen, I stake my whole journalistic reputation!" Dietrich shouted, swinging his fist high in the air in a dramatic gesture.

Howard Smith

Now nobody will contest the contention that the Nazis tell lies, and great big ones. But it is true that Hitler himself has never told a lie about a specific military fact which can be checked. There are two good reasons for this. First, he does not have to lie about them; you don't have to tell a fib when you're winning. Second, a specific military fact can be so easily checked, and if it were found out that the "Almighty" had told a blunt untruth, especially about something so big as this particular event, it would be disastrous to his position. So we of the fourth estate had no choice but to believe these dramatic assertions were gospel truth.

Upon my consciousness settled the more painful conviction—common to all there—that the eastern war was over; and perhaps, the decision in the entire conflict already lay in Hitler's hands.

When Dietrich finished tense excitement prevailed. The uniforms gathered round him and "pumped" his hand in a sort of mutual congratulation on the Ger-

Russia: Russia's armies quickened the flood-tide of German disaster in the Caucasus and Middle Don today, engulfing at least six new cities and towns, and there were indications that a final drive had begun to annihilate the remnants of 22 Nazi divisions trapped west of Stalingrad.

The German army is in full retreat in the Caucasus, blowing up bridges and mining roads in a desperate attempt to delay the onrushing Soviets.

The Russian drive northward from recaptured Nalchik was described as sweeping ahead on a wide front, over-running a large number of towns.

For the first time, Russian headquarters reported a battle in the sector "west of Stalingrad"—a new designation.

North Africa: The Axis position in North Africa grows even more precarious. British Commandos, paracaute troops and regular soldiers executed a swift dawn attack which threw the Germans out of a strong point in the hills near Medjez, 20 miles southwest of the big Axis-held naval base at Bizerte, in Tunisia.

On the Libyan desert front, Cairo headquarters announced "nothing to report" from Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's British 8th Army in its pursuit of Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Corps toward Tripoli.

While the land front remained quiet, presumably still shrouded by sandstorms, R.A.F. bombers against blasted the Axis-held port of Sousse, in Tunisia, scoring hits on docks and buildings.

Pacific Theatre: Major developments may not be expected from Allied initiative in the immediate future. The Japanese, however, may strike in force at any time. The Australians are looking for a new Japanese blow from some direction.

Allied forces have driven the Japanese from a strip of beach in the Buna area of the northeastern New Guinea coast but the Japanese still hold bases at Lae and Salamaua farther to the west and there is still fighting in prospect before they can be dislodged.

On Guadalcanal, the Americans are making slow progress. They landed there last Aug. 7 and took a three-mile stretch of beach. They now hold 18 miles of beach and an 80-square-mile area extending five miles inland. They also are the nearby islands of Tulagi, Gavutu and Tanambogo.

General Giraud Reaches Dakar

By JOSEPH MORTON

DAKAR, Jan. 5.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Gen. Henri Honore Giraud, high commissioner for French North and West Africa, arrived here by plane today with several members of his staff to confer with the United States mission headed by Vice-Admiral William A. Glassford, and with Pierre Boisson, governor-general of French West Africa.

Giraud drove from the airfield to the centre of the city, where he and Glassford placed wreaths at the foot of a monument to the Senegalese killed in the First Great War.

Dakar was gaily decorated with flags, bunting and stands built for a formal review of French troops tomorrow.

Orders Reserving Beef For Troops Are Lifted Today

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—(CP)—The Prices Board's foods administration today lifted all orders reserving beef for the armed forces at abattoirs in the Toronto and Montreal districts.

LONDON STATES ALBERT LEBRUN NOT IN AFRICA

LONDON, Jan. 6. — (CP) — Albert Lebrun, president of the French republic until its fall, was reported by a Brazzaville broadcast to have arrived in North Africa, but unofficial though completely reliable sources in London said today it was known definitely that this was not true.

The report of the broadcast, radio, controlled by the Fighting French, was recorded by the Federal Communications Commission in the United States.

Bush Pilot Killed In Quebec Crash

HUNTSVILLE, Ont., Jan. 6.—(CP)—Well known in Winnipeg where he received his transport aviation licence, Bernard A. (Bun) Paget, an Ontario bush pilot with more than 3,000 flying hours, was killed yesterday when his plane crashed near Baie Comeau, Que., on the north shore of the St. Lawrence river. Word of the crash was sent to his father here.

Paget was flying for Quebec Airways Limited, a subsidiary of Canadian Pacific Airways on the Quebec-North Shore route. The plane left Baie Comeau on a flight to Godbout, 37 miles away. Ten minutes later the plane was seen in difficulty. It crashed and burned.

11 University Students Forced To Quit Studies

HALIFAX, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Eleven students have been required to discontinue their studies at Dalhousie University after failing in mid-term examinations, it was announced today in a statement released by Dr. Carleton Stanley, president of the university.

The statement had nothing to say regarding what action military authorities in this district would take in the case of the 11 men.

Strikers Return

DETROIT, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Thirty tank engine testers at the Chrysler Corp.'s Jefferson avenue plant staged a strike of several hours' duration today, returning to work shortly after noon.

Canadian Troops Land in N. Africa

By ROSS MUNRO

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 6.—(CP)—A detachment of officers and non-commissioned officers from the Canadian army in England was landed recently in North Africa to gain battle experience with the British 1st Army in Tunisia.

While comparatively small, this detachment, the first of the Canadian army to join the Allied force here, included representatives of practically every type of unit — armored regiments, infantry, artillery, supply and communications services and some medical officers.

For several months they will remain in this theatre of war, gaining all the experience and information they can on actual battle conditions. Then they will return to England to pass on their knowledge to their own units and formations.

The voyage from England was safe and uneventful and after landing the Canadians marched 12 miles with full kit—goodly distance for any battalion—to camp in pleasant villas by the blue Mediterranean.

STATIONED AT BASE

They will remain at this base, a reception depot, until called upon, probably soon, to go to the front with British fighting units.

It is likely they will go into the line as regular reinforcements to

Stiff Penalties

Eastern U.S. Pleasure Car Driving Banned

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The office of price administration today outlawed all pleasure driving by drivers of "A," "B" and "C" gasoline ration cards in the eastern United States and prescribed penalties of gasoline rations as the penalty for failure to comply.

The order is effective as of noon tomorrow, Jan. 7.

The aid of all state, county and municipal law enforcement agencies in the 17 eastern states and district of Columbia is being asked to help the federal government in preventing pleasure driving, by reporting violations to local ration boards or local O.P.A. offices.

"The presence of passengers cars for any gathering for purposes of sport or amusement will be taken as prima facie evidence that Gasoline rations and tires are being dissipated needlessly and illegally," the O.P.A. said in the ban on pleasure driving will also apply to driving to purely social engagements."

The drastic prohibition on pleasure motoring was reinforced by an O.P.A. warning that "even more serious measures are being prepared to be ready for immediate use "if the current situation gets worse."

Ferry Command Airplane Crashes

REGINA, Jan. 6. — (CP) — En route from Winnipeg, a Ferry Command aircraft crashed one and one half miles west of Regina at 10 a.m. Wednesday. It was reported at noon that neither of the plane's two occupants were injured.

"Deadeye Dicks" of Air

City Man Lone Canadian With Mosquito Squadron

By LOUIS HUNTER

WITH THE R.A.F. SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Jan. 6.—(CP)—The boys who fly the trim twin-engined bomber command aircraft with close to the top speed of fighters are like an air force's "Deadeye Dicks," and, no fooling, newspapermen learned it to their discomfort.

I should hate to be around a target they were aiming at with real stuff and they carry 2,000 pounds of "sting."

During a visit to a Mosquito squadron in which FO. Hardy Kirkland of 10338 127th street, Edmonton, is Canada's sole representative, pressmen were subjected to an attack in the same fashion as these nimble bombers have been hitting vital Axis targets in Germany, France and the Netherlands.

JOKE ON NEWSMEN

A dummy target was erected in the centre of the airdrome and the light camouflaged bombers took off to do their stuff while the reporters stood in a group at the side of the field. The newspapermen kept their eyes glued to the target while the Mosquitos dived to the attack, flying in line astern.

One by one they zoomed over the target, flying at great speed, barely 50 feet off the ground. Eleven-pound smoke bombs plummeted from the belly of each machine—but they did not land anywhere near the dummy—they were still intact at the conclusion of the demonstration.

The flyers, always ready for a laugh, conspired beforehand to disregard the target and score near misses alongside the reporters. The boys in the cockpits must have laughed to see the newspapermen duck and scatter in all

British Take Strong Nazi Hill Position

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 6. (AP)—Allied forces have captured Djebel Azzag and other points in the vicinity as part of attacks in which British troops have driven the enemy from strategic hills 15 miles west of Mateur, Allied headquarters announced today.

LONDON, Jan. 6—British forces in Tunisia have seized a strategic hill position approximately 30 miles southwest of Bizerte while in the other end of the African battlefront, forward elements of the Eighth Army Imperials slabbed at Axis defences around Mareth 125 miles east of Sfax, Tripoli, dispatches reported today.

A British brigade, supported by Royal Air Force planes and American artillery drove German units from strong hill positions, 15 miles west of Mateur, apex of the north-eastern Tunisia defence triangle, a

Ten Jap Ships Sunk, Fired As Rabaul Armada Blasted

By DON CASEWELL

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Jan. 6.—Allied planes, in a shattering blow at new Japanese invasion fleet, have sunk nine and probably 10 ships, totaling more than 50,000 tons, at Rabaul, on New British Island, it was announced today.

Striking at a moment when Australia was fearful of a major Japanese offensive, possibly even against this continent, giant Consolidated Liberator and Boeing Flying Fortresses attacked the Japanese fleet concentration in two waves.

They planted 1,000 pound bombs on eight supply ships and transports, a destroyer tender and a destroyer laid alongside it.

AUSTRALIA FEARFUL

The bombers, raiding without fighter escort, shot down six Japanese fighter planes which tried to intercept them.

Only one bomber was missing when the communique announcing the raid, possibly the most successful in the Southwest Pacific campaign, was issued.

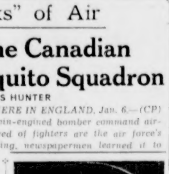

For two days, Australian government and other sources had been expressing fears of new Japanese aggression, asserting that a powerful Japanese fleet was assembling at Rabaul, Japan's biggest base in the Southwest Pacific, lying 900 miles south of its own Truk Islands base.

Japanese scouting planes probably small ones operating from big submarines, had been sighted off the Bowen-Mackay area of the northeast Australian coast.

PICK RIGHT MOMENT

As had been done at Milne Bay in the Owen Stanley Mountains when the Japanese threatened Port Moresby, New Guinea, Allied bombers struck just at the moment when anxiety was becoming acute.

All eight supply ships were left burning or sinking. The destroyer tender was in a sinking condition and it was believed the destroyer sank also to make a total of 10 ships in one raid.

Cornwall, Ont., Is Ice-Sheathed After Blizzard

By JACK BRALEY

CORNWALL, Ont., Jan. 6—(CP)—This ice-sheathed, textile town, still cooking its meals over wood furnace-fires, hoped today for a thaw to aid overworked repair gangs.

The whole town and outlying districts are one mass of tangled wire and tree limbs, the result of a 22-hour rain that started Dec. 29 and froze as it fell. The rain was followed by a blizzard Dec. 30 and 31.

The storm cut power and communication lines. The coating of ice was so bad that in some places it froze wild birds and farmyard poultry in their tracks. One tree five miles from the centre of the city had a group of 15 birds on its limbs.

WIRES SNAPPED

The ice-coating made thin telegraph wires as thick as a person's wrist and then the wind snapped them off. Some streets resembled

U.S. Task Force Bombards Munda

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The navy department reported today that a United States task force of surface units had "successfully bombarded" the Japanese airfield at Munda, New Georgia island, in the Solomons.

Munda, 190 miles northwest of Guadalcanal. The Japanese have been attempting for weeks to establish a strong air base there, presumably for operations against American troops on Guadalcanal.

A communique said the task force was attacked by Japanese bombers but these were driven off by four "Wildcats" (Grumman planes) which shot down four of the enemy and probably destroyed two others.

29 Anthracite Firms Indicted

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted 29 anthracite corporations and 26 of their officers or employees on charges of violating the Sherman anti-trust act by fixing anthracite prices.

The indictment charged that from 1939 until the spring of 1942 the defendants held, attended or were represented at New York City meetings at which trade practices, discounts and circular prices and the effective dates of the prices were agreed upon. It was charged that a system of price policing was established for the purpose of requiring the defendants to adhere to circular prices.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(CP)—The Admiralty announced tonight that a large enemy troop transport and a supply ship had been destroyed and two other ships had been hit and probably sunk by British submarines in the Mediterranean.

The troop transport was encountered off Sicily while bound southward—toward Africa—with a heavy escort but she was hit by three torpedoes and sunk, the communique said.

The communique said a submarine also scored "a large number of hits" in a bombardment of a brick railroad viaduct near Palinuro, Italy, 80 miles southeast of Naples, and had inflicted considerable damage. Another, it said, shelled harbor installations in the enemy occupied Greek port of Kyme.

Kyme is in the Aegean sea, on the east coast of Greece.

Re-Shuffling Of House Seats Now Under Way

Seating arrangements in the legislative chamber will have to be re-arranged for the forthcoming session that opens Feb. 18. The re-arrangement may affect both the government and independent sections of the chamber.

A back-bencher in the Independent section of the chamber will be moved up to the seat formerly occupied by the late D. M. Duggan, M.L.A., former leader of the Alberta Conservatives, and chief spokesman for the Independents in the assembly in recent sessions.

Elmer E. Roper, M.L.A., elected as a Co-operative Commonwealth Federation member, at the by-election last fall, will likely be given a seat at the rear of the independents' section, although it is not definite just where he will be seated. There are at present 21 opposition members.

CAUSES SPECULATION

The case of Chester A. Reynolds, Social Credit Party member for Stettler, who "broke" with the party over policy, is causing some speculation.

It is not thought likely that Mr. Reynolds will "bolt" all the way, and cross the floor of the house to take a seat with the official opposition. On the other hand it seems hardly likely, in view of the strained relations between him and government, that he will continue to sit as a government backbencher.

It is predicted that Mr. Reynolds will continue to sit with the government members but have his seat slightly "isolated" from the others.

A blueprint of the chamber has been made available for the members by Robert A. Addison, clerk of the legislative assembly, so that arrangements may be completed before the members take their places on Feb. 18.

Conductor of Wrecked Troop Train Suicides

SMITH'S FALLS, Ont., Jan. 6.—(CP)—Chief Frank Lees of the Smith's Falls police said today that Albert Edward of Smith's Falls, conductor on the troop train which was involved in the Dec. 27 Almonte, Ont., wreck which took 36 lives, committed suicide last night.

Chief Lees said Howard left a note which "indicated he took his own life because of mental strain as a result of the wreck."

The body was found early today in the Rideau river at Smith's Falls.

Recover Bodies Of Fire Victims

MIDLAND, Ont., Jan. 6.—(CP)—Provincial police today recovered the bodies of Edward Bessair and Walter Bonneville who were burned to death when fire destroyed a summer cottage near Honey Harbor, 15 miles north of here, yesterday.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 6.—(CP)—The second session of Manitoba's 21st legislature is expected to open during the last week of January, probably Jan. 26 or 27, it was learned today.

Reds Speed Up Advance Behind Foe

By HENRY SHAPIRO

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

MOSCOW, Jan. 6.—The Germans are in disorderly retreat west of Mozdok in the Caucasus, front dispatches said today, and are blowing up bridges and mining roads in an attempt to escape from swift-moving Cossacks who are slashing at their flanks.

The Red army, fanning out west and north of Prokhladnenski, 28 miles west of Mozdok, stepped up the pace of its advance in an attempt to convert a German retreat into a rout. Close behind the Cossacks went tank and infantry units to mop up any islands of resistance.

(London newspapers carried large headlines saying 500,000 Germans were in retreat in Russia.

(Radio Moscow was heard in London saying Soviet troops have reached the outskirts of Mamayev Nurgan, the most vital defence point at the German troops encircled in the Stalingrad region. The broadcast, recorded by Exchange Telegraph Agency, said Red Army troops were battering watertowers which the enemy had converted into forts.)

COSSACKS IN VAN

Front dispatches revealed that it was the fierce-fighting Cossacks who made the first break through that led to the German defeat at Mozdok and Nalchik.

The Red Army offensive in the south Stalingrad sector picked up momentum, too, after the seizure of the Axis stronghold of Tormosinskaya in the south arm of the Don bend. The army newspaper, Red Star, said the city fell after a two-day battle in which the German garrison was annihilated. Then the Red Army began fanning out and Red Star, army newspaper, said the operations now had secured all of the stern half of the Don bend for the Russians.

The Russians, harrying the Germans at every possible point, started an offensive directly west of Stalingrad, the Soviet noon communique reported.

Striking out from the west bank of the Volga the Soviet troops of Russians by this morning had ripped through the first German defence line and captured dozens of trenches and dugouts and two important heights.

Six Killed, 100 Injured in Fire

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Six persons were killed and more than 100 injured in a fire and explosion that swept a dance hall on the south side of Chicago shortly before midnight. Many of the 200 patrons who escaped to the street were blown through doors by the force of the blast.

The sixth body was recovered from the debris of the dance hall more than eight hours after the blaze started. Fire Marshal Anthony Mullaney estimated damage at $150,000.

Over-Optimism Warned Against

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Elmer Davis, United States director of war information, spoke out today against over-optimism about an early end to the war and stressed particularly the "continuing serious submarine menace."

Davis took specific exception to a prediction of Admiral William F. Halsey, South Pacific commander, that the war will end this year.

I have no information to support such a prediction, although I have been trying to get some." Davis told a press conference.

Democrats Keep Housé Control By Slim Margin

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—By the slimmest margin in a decade, Democrats knot control of the House of Representatives and returned Sam Rayburn, of Texas, to the speakership today in organizing the 78th Congress for President Roosevelt's report tomorrow on a year of war and the way to victory.

Rayburn defeated Representative Joseph Martin (Rep.-Mass.) who automatically became the minority leader. Representative John McCormack, also of Massachusetts, was renamed Democratic floor leader at a party caucus yesterday.

The vote for speaker was Rayburn 217; Martin 206, on strict party lines.

AIR RAID ALERT

The senate's first session lasted exactly 20 minutes, with 89 members present.

It was the first congress in a quarter of a century to convene with the country at war. And, as if to impress upon the new and old members the gravity of the times, a test air-raid put them on the alert an hour and a half before Vice-president Henry A. Wallace banged the gavel in the senate and Chief Clerk South Trimble rapped the representatives to order in the house.

The opening followed the traditional pattern of initial sessions of new congresses. The galleries were filled in advance. Among the visitors were representatives of the diplomatic corps and high government officials.

Introduction of bills and resolutions in both houses and senate started simultaneously with the fall of the gavels, with Senator Thomas (Democrat-Utah) and Representative Wiley (Rep.-Wis) saying he had ready a resolution calling for the establishment of a Pacific union committee between the president and Congress.

INTRODUCE 150 BILLS

More than 150 bills covering a wide variety of subjects were introduced in advance by re-elected members of the house.

A constitutional amendment to lower the voting age from 21 years, to 18, the minimum draft age, was proposed by Representative Ham Fish (Rep.-N.Y.)

Bills offered by Representatives Walter Lynch (Dem.-N.Y.) and James Van Zandt (Rep.-Pa.) would continue the pay cut now in the armed forces beyond the end of the war. Lynch proposed continuance of pay for one year after discharge, Van Zandt for six months. Legislation intended to set up machinery guaranteeing employment to enlisted men after their discharge also was introduced.

Representative George O'Brien (Dem.-Mich.) touched off the old controversy over unification of the armed forces by introducing a bill to create a department of national defence, made up of co-equal divisions of air warfare, the army and the navy.

To Ask Details War Spending

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said today he will ask when the House of Commons resumes this month for details of government expenditures on war plants, including major power developments.

Mr. Coldwell said he was particularly interested in learning details of the financing of some projects, and of any understandings that had been reached concerning their use during and after the war.

Information on direct contributions by the government to private-ly-owned enterprises and of depreciation rates allowed on property which might later be turned over to private companies would also be sought, he said.

King Victor Ends Morale - Boosting Tour of Sicily

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The Rome radio disclosed today that King Victor Emmanuel has just completed a morale-booster tour of Sicily, where he experienced an air raid alarm at Palermo, and the broadcast claimed his reception by the public proved Italians still are unshaken by air bombardment.

The King apparently made the trip as part of a planned effort in which he is being paraded before the populace of Italy's most heavily-bombed districts.

Britain sank 2,560,000 tons of Axis shipping in 1941.

directions as the bombs exploded a few feet away and showered them with bits of metal casing.

The newspapermen had a laugh of their own, though. The only person hit hard enough to feel the blow was the officer who engineered the surprise. He stopped a four-ounce piece of steel with his back, but was unhurt.

EXPERT BOMB-AIMER

Kirkland, a slim 22-year-old navy gator, was one of the bomb-aimers and the demonstration was a sample of what he had done in five raids He had been to Dun Herlaer, Kindhoven and northern France and admitted in an interview after the show that he was sometimes scared when he roared at low level over targets, some of which were heavily defended.

On his last flight over northern France he had a close escape. After the attack on Marshalling Yards the pilot neglected to bring up the nose of the Mosquito fast enough and clipped the top off a tree.

"I wondered for the next 10 seconds whether we would make it or not," he said the youngster. "We did and I have a piece of the tree for a souvenir."

PO. Kirkland is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Kirkland of 10338 127 street. He arrived in England last April. He was educated at Westmount and Victoria High Schools, and had completed his second year at the University of Alberta at the time of his enlistment. He received flying training at Brandon, Man., and Regina and Moosbank, Sask., and was graduated as a sergeant-observer from Rivers. He was commissioned two weeks after his graduation.

Nazis Threaten Action Against Greek Guerillas

ANKARA, Jan. 6.—(AP)—A well-authenticated report from Greece yesterday said the Germans had threatened to intervene there unless Italian occupying troops crush Greek guerillas who are menacing Axis communications in Greece.

The German threat allegedly was made at an Athens conference between Germans and Italians.

In a bitter exchange of words, the Italians were said to have reminded the Germans they had failed to suppress the Chetniks in Yugoslavia and the Germans accused the Italians of laxity in Greece.

Russian Christmas Services Are Held In Orthodox Church

MOSCOW, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The Russian Orthodox church offered special services today on the eve of the Russian Christmas, which comes tomorrow, according to the Julian calendar. The Yelokhovsky cathedral and more than 20 other Moscow churches were opened for Christmas Eve masses, which started at 4.30 in the afternoon.

The main Christmas "Zautrenia," or early morning mass, will be celebrated tomorrow before dawn.

Canadian and U.S. Gifts For Russia Arrive at Helsinki

GENEVA, Switzerland, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The international committee of the Red Cross announced today the arrival in Helsinki, Finland, of quantities of foodstuffs and vitamins as gifts from Canadian and American Red Cross units to Russian war prisoners.

The shipment consisted of 3,745 11-pound packs of food and 499,000 vitamin units. Last August 5,000 food packages were delivered to Helsinki.

BAGDAD, Iraq, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Brig-Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, mission from an unexplained mission to Russia, declined comment on his activities yesterday as he left by air for Cairo. The former United States secretary of war now is midway to New Zealand.

dispatch from Allied North African headquarters disclosed.

Rafic Moroccos reported that parts of the British Eighth Army meanwhile were striking at the defences of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps at both approaches to Misurata, 200 miles east of Tunisia.

SOUSSE IS BOMBED

Italian rear guards had evacuated Buerat El Hsun, 75 miles southeast of Misurata, the broadcast reported, and British troops occupied that Gulf of Sirte town immediately.

British and American planes from the middle east pounded Sousse, reinforcement port in the Tunisian east coast, in a smashing daylight raid yesterday. Cairo communiques reported. Axis installations were damaged.

American Flying Fortresses operating from bases in Tunisia, battered the east coast port of Sfax, scoring probable hits on an Axis cruiser and directly hitting three merchant vessels. Medium marauder bombers raided the Axis air field at Kairouan, 30 miles west of Sousse.

The battles of Tunisia and Tripolitania were generally merging, and the forces of Marshal Erwin Rommel and Lieut. Gen. Walther Nehring were so close together that they were drawing on the same pool of supplies and men.

COMMANDOS ATTACK

Mud restricted operations on the northern sector in Tunisia, but on the southern sector, where the Germans had suffered heavy losses in futile efforts to turn the Allied right flank, heavy fighting was reported raging.

The Nazis' radio Vichy broadcast today that the Germans were attacking west of Pichon, 56 miles west and slightly south of the bombattered port of Sousse.

The federal communications commission heard radio London broadcasting that British Commandos and members of famous southeastern England regiments had thrown the Germans out of a strong position on the hills a few miles west of Mateur, in a swift dawn attack.)

7 of Family Die As Home Burns

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Jan. 6.—(CP)—Seven of a family of 10 died in their flame-swept home in the lonely district of Upper Humbermouth during the early hours of Tuesday morning, it was learned here today.

Three other members of the family were rescued by Abraham Feltham, only other person living on the Leighertown road, taken to Deer Lake hospital over snow-clogged trails suffering from burns and exposure.

Further Price Adjustments Will Now Be Resisted

MONTREAL, Jan. 6.—(CP)—E. G. Burton, administrator of retail trade for the Prices Board, told the Advertising and Sales Executives Club today that "we consider the time has come to resist further price adjustments, whether it be for manufacturer, wholesaler or retailer."

The prices board now has gone through all seasons of the year and made price variations on goods that were not generally on sale during the basic period, he said, adding, "it should only be in the most exceptional cases, cases of real hardship, that anyone will be allowed to increase a price from now on."

Army Wireless To Bring Direct News of Africa

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Elmer Davis, director of war information, announced today the opening of a direct news transmission channel from Algiers to Washington by United States army wireless which he said will speed and greatly increase the flow of news from the North African front.

The first transmission this morning brought in 3,000 words of dispatches from American newspaper and Press Association correspondents and is expected hereafter to average about 10,000 words per day.

Negro Private Is Sentenced to Hang

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(CP)—David Cobb, a negro private in the United States army, was convicted by a court martial today and sentenced to be hanged for the fatal shooting of Second Lieut. Robert J. Cobner.

Anti-Semitism

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Sir Wyndham Deedes, former secretary to the British administration in Palestine, said in a speech today that anti-semitism exists in Great Britain and "it is rather worse for being covered up."

The directors confirmed the action of a special committee considering the holding of a horse sale here, and endorsed a resolution that the sale be held on Friday, March 19, if suitable arrangements can be made for the sale.

German Stalling On Unshackling Will Draw Reply

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Britain's reply to Germany's stalling on the question of unshackling British and Canadian prisoners in Germany is expected to come when parliament reassembles, probably from Prime Minister Churchill, it was reported today.

Although the German prisoners who had been chained in Britain and Canada in retaliation for the chaining of British prisoners were released from their fetters Dec. 12, Germany apparently has not reciprocated, and appears to be proposing discussion of the question deliberately.

The German radio said yesterday that Britain's reply to the latest German note on the question "still is outstanding."

Victims of Fire

MIDLAND, Ont., Jan. 6.—(CP)—Two men were believed to have burned to death yesterday when fire destroyed a summer cottage near Honey Harbor, 15 miles north of here. The cottage was found burned to the ground and caretaker Ed. Bassair and a companion, Walter Bonneville, are missing.

Two Airmen Killed In Training Crash

DAUPHIN, Man., Jan. 6.—(CP)—LAC. K. H. Hancock of Roland, Man., and an airman of the overseas personnel were killed early today when their training plane crashed following take-off from No. 10 Service Flying Training School here, R.C.A.F. officials announced.

Cornwall, Ont., Is Ice-Sheathed After Blizzard

an English coastal town expecting an invasion, with great barricades of tree branches and whiskered, coiled, wire making streets impassible.

Cornwall is an ice city. Today the sun reflects spectacularly on its icy cable lines, trees and power poles —those that were left standing. Hedges look like great masses of glinting steel wool on the city's outskirts, tramcars are frozen in their tracks, although service has now been restored in the central part of the city.

Electric power and telephone services are partially restored and repair gangs are working long hours restringing miles of devastated telegraph lines in an effort to restore this service.

TRAINS RUNNING

They have so far repaired enough lines to assure the carrying of train orders, hoping train schedules almost back to normal.

In the outlying districts and across the St. Lawrence in up-state New York, the situation is grave and power officials said they held no prospects of restoring full normal service until spring, and that in the meantime "if we don't get a thaw soon, and get another bad wind instead, we'll lose the skeleton service we are now operating."

NAZIS MAKING CITY OF TUNIS INTO FORTRESS

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(CP)—The Germans in Tunis were reported today working feverishly to convert that city into another Fortress like Stalingrad, evacuating civilians except for the capital's Jews who, it was said are being forced to help.

The Daily Mail's African correspondent said Arabs who crossed the no-man's-land between German and Allied forces give a picture of a dead city, shuttered and still except for the German garrison, with shops closed, and shutters up on most dwellings now being used by Axis troops.

The civilian population has been moved out, and the Jews of the city have been forced to help in defence works."

Tie Broken For East Mayoralty

WALLACEBURG, Ont., Jan. 6.—(CP)—First mayoralty tie in the history of Wallaceburg was broken today when town clerk G. F. Glassford cast the deciding vote which put Reeve Andrew L. Gilhuly into office over ex-mayor Dr. S. A. Richardson. Each candidate polled 828 votes in the town election Monday.

$991,536,500 Is Final Total Victory Loan

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Finance Minister Ilsley today announced that latest figures compiled by the national finance committee placed total subscriptions of Canada's third Victory Loan at $991,536,500 from 2,041,810 cash subscribers, making it the most successful public bond issue in the history of the Dominion.

Minimum objective of the loan campaign was $750,000,000. The total number of subscriptions indicated that, on an average, about one out of every 2.7 working Canadians bought Third Victory Loan bonds.

In the Second Victory Loan in February, 1942, total cash raised amounted to $843,127,900 from 1,680,000 subscriptions. In addition to these sales for cash, the Second Victory Loan included bonds to the amount of $153,579,000 issued in exchange for maturing bonds.

BREAK-DOWN OF TOTALS

A break-down of subscription totals showed that general public canvass and employee subscriptions, which represented largely purchases by individuals, numbered 2,034,174 and produced $374,828,200. Special names subscriptions, representing mostly purchases by insurance companies and other business corporations, numbered 7,436 and produced $616,708,300.

In the Second Victory Loan, general public canvass and employee subscriptions produced $325,638,200 in cash, and special names subscriptions $507,489,700.

"The figures are a final record of the loan, subject only to a final verification of actual deliveries of bonds to subscribers by banks and trust and loan companies," the statement said.

Breweries' Action Pleases Ottawa

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Breweries are imposing severe rationing on the distribution of beer supplies so they will reach next Oct. 31 with beer consumption down 10 per cent from the 12-month period ended Oct. 31, 1942, it was learned today. Government officials said they had heard reports of this voluntary rationing action taken by the breweries, and "thoroughly approved of it."

Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced last Dec. 16 that a reduction of 10 per cent in beer consumption during the year ending next Oct. 31 would be required by government order. In the weeks between Nov. 14 and Dec. 16, beer sales had continued at the normal level, although this period was included in the year in which the 10 per cent reduction must be made.

Officials said the beer rationing was purely voluntary action by the breweries, who had taken their own steps to stay within the 90 per cent limit.

Three Negroes Die, Nine Others Hurt When Truck Burns

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Three Negroes were burned to death and nine injured, two probably fatally, when a truck in which they were passengers burned in an explosion on a highway near here yesterday. The body of the truck, police said, was covered with a heavy tarpaulin and the group had a charcoal burner inside for added warmth. Officials said the explosion apparently was caused when gas fumes came into contact with the charcoal burner.

Two Found Slain

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Jan. 6.—(AP)—The bodies of two unidentified men were found yesterday afternoon by police who forced open a locked car abandoned since Sunday on a street here. Police Chief Arthur I. Rosso said the men apparently had been murdered.

Alberta Resident Critically Hurt In Bus Accident

CLOVERDALE, B.C., Jan. 6.—(CP)—One man was critically injured and 20 passengers on a Pacific Stages lines bus, bound from Vancouver to White Rock, received minor injuries when the bus plunged into a ditch after colliding with a bicycle near here. Cloverdale is 18 miles south of Vancouver.

The cyclist, Erwin S. Stanley, 50, of Faust, Alberta, lies in "poor condition" in hospital. He is believed to be suffering from a fractured skull.

Bushman Killed By Falling Tree

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, Jan. 6.—Arnie Axel Suomi, 45, was instantly killed when struck by a falling tree when working in the bush at Edwards' lumber camp, 40 miles west of town on Monday afternoon. He was born in Finland and had no relatives in Canada. Soumi came to Benalto in 1922 and worked in the lumber camps every winter. Coroner Dr. A. C. Greenaway and Constable R. A. McMullen went out to the camp Tuesday. No inquest will be held and funeral will be at Benalto, Thursday.

Girl, 17, Goes Free In Parent Slaying

HACKENSACK, N.J., Jan. 6.—(AP)—The Bergen county grand jury reported yesterday it had voted no indictment against Laura Matrisi, 17-year-old East Rutherford high school girl, who stabbed her father to death during a family argument Dec. 27.

Alberta Girls To Get Chances Free Courses

An opportunity for 30 Alberta girls to get a free five-month course in shorthand, typing and business English was announced Wednesday by the Royal Canadian Air Force. The course is open to physically fit girls and women between 18 and 41 who have no dependents. Some high school education is preferred.

Suitable applicants are enlisted at once and paid $2.15 a day right from the start of the course. They live "out" and are encouraged to stay with relatives or friends. They will wear civilian clothes until the completion of the course.

Classes will be held at the Alberta Women's Service Corps Headquarters and will be under the direction of Mrs. R. M. Tait.

Upon completion of the stenography course, the girls will proceed to eastern Canada for an additional four weeks' basic training and then be posted to stenographic positions at various air force units.

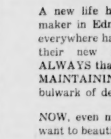

Recruiting centre officials pointed out that the course is limited to 30 and those who wished to take it, or secure further information, should visit the recruiting centre in the provincial building.

The centre is open Tuesday and Friday evenings from 7 o'clock to 9 o'clock for the convenience of women who wish to call in the evenings. Those who live out of town are invited to write the R.C.A.F., Women's Division, Provincial Building.

Applications are now being accepted.

Clean out the Poisons

The liver and kidneys are so closely associated in their work of filtering poisons from the blood stream that both are likely to become deranged at the same time.

Hence the advantage of using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which, by means of the bile salts they contain, increase the flow of bile from the liver and arouse the action of the bowels. By their aid, kidney action is found to increase the quantity of liquids and solids for the kidneys to act upon and so enable these organs to purify the blood of disease laden poisons.

To get quick results use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills—the popular family regulator.

F.D.R. Discloses;

Production of Ships in U.S. At Peak of 5 Daily by May; 1943 Goal 16,000,000 Tons

By J. F. SANDERSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(CP)—The United States is producing four merchant ships every day and by May will reach peak production of five a day, it was announced yesterday by President Roosevelt.

American shipyards produced 8,090,800 tons of merchant ships in 1942, not counting vessels for the armed forces or 800 small craft. The goal for 1943 is 16,000,000 tons and the president said he had no doubt it would be exceeded.

The president made his disclosures at a White House press conference a few hours after Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, head of the Maritime Commission, announced that American shipyards can produce 20,000,000 tons in 1943 if materials are made available.

"NEVER HAVE ENOUGH"

The president would make no comment on the relationship of sinkings to launchings at long the United Nations, Admiral Land, however, insisted "We'll never have enough ships as long as the war lasts," despite the success of air transport.

At the present rate of production, Canada, the United States and Britain turn out at least 140 cargo vessels a month which probably is the bulk of the United Nations' production although Australia and Russia increase it to 150 or more a month. Canada and the U.S. recent announcements say, are producing at a rate of one 10,000-ton merchant ship every three days while American production, exceeding anything in history is 120 a month.

Rear Admiral Howard L. Vickery who directly supervises the merchant ship construction program said he thought the war production board would allocate steel for about 18,000,000 tons of ships this year.

When Land was asked if he thought the yards should be operated to capacity, he replied:

"If we can protect the ships."

Land said close co-operation between labor and management contributed largely to the production of 746 merchant ships of 8,090,800 dead-weight tons in 1942, but there still were some "flies in the ointment," including the "absentee situation" in some yards.

OTHER FACTORS

Other contributing factors to the record output he listed as the building of large sections of ships before they are carried to the ways; adaptation of assembly line methods, supported by a flow of materials obtained through central purchasing; increased use of welding instead of riveting to conserve manpower, speed construction, and save steel; standardization of design.

Of the 746 ships delivered into service last year, 542 were of the Liberty type, designed for mass production. Also included were 62 tankers, 62 of the standard C-types, 55 freighters for Britain, 5 small coaster freighters, five ore carriers, and 15 special types.

With a view to greater speed, a new Liberty ship will be placed in production some time this year. Instead of the present reciprocating engine, it will have a somewhat similar German-designed Lenz engine, for which the American rights are held by the American Shipbuilding company, Cleveland.

INCREASE SPEED

Because of increased horsepower Vickery predicted the new Liberty ship would have a speed exceeding 15 knots. The present Liberty ships have done better than 12 knots in trials, and averages 11.25 to 11.50 knots on long voyages.

Post-War Needs Will Only Ease Wheat Problem

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The world problem of over-supply of wheat will be eased but not solved by post-war demand from hungry countries, the "Index", quarterly publication of the New York Trust Company, said yesterday.

In a study of world conditions affecting wheat the publication declared that steadily accumulating stocks in the chief wheat-producing countries—Canada, Australia, Argentina and the United States—have contributed to upset wheat economy, and added:

DOWNWARD TREND

"It must be kept in mind that the withheld amounts of wheat normally exported to Europe account for only a moderate part of the vast surplus—per capita wheat consumption has shown a definite downward trend in many countries for more than a generation."

In line of a permanent solution of the problem the Index suggested as primary needs:

"To attribute the surplus as fully as possible at commensurate prices, to eliminate the pressure for excessive output and further to reduce the wheat acreage."

The survey added that "in their approach to that exacting program, the four chief exporting countries must find a basis upon which to reconcile three not easily reconcilable viewpoints—domestic policy, policy between the exporting nations, and world policy, including the conduct of relations with consuming areas and the preservation of the competitive position of wheat products among foods."

HUGE CARRYOVER

"The scope of the surplus problem is shown in statistics; overseas trade of the chief wheat-exporting countries fell from 502,000,000 bushels in 1939-40 to 400,000,000 in 1940-41. In contrast to this drop in exports the bumper crops have created an unprecedented surplus pointing to a world carryover next August in excess of 2,100,000,000 bushels.

De Gaulle May Avoid Politics To Join French

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(CP)—In an effort to unite the armed forces of the Fighting French and the Giraud government in North Africa, Gen. Charles de Gaulle may elect to postpone political considerations if he can discuss military problems with Gen. Henri Giraud.

Such a formula was considered likely here last night since both factions have as their immediate, paramount objective a co-operative effort with the Allies to crush Axis armies.

While de Gaulle's Christmas Day proposal that he and Giraud meet on French soil aroused keen interest in Algiers, there was no comment or any indication if or when a reply would be forthcoming.

NO "COMMENT"

A Fighting French spokesman here said he was "unable to comment" on a report that de Gaulle had addressed a new message to Giraud relative to a meeting.

Political considerations which might prove a stumbling block to such a conference include formation of a unified French regime. De Gaulle followers have maintained that any unified administration must be divorced from Vichy government connections, however remote.

Butter Supplies Continue Decline

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Further reduction in creamery butter stores at Jan. 1, was reported yesterday by the Dominion bureau of statistics which placed holdings in nine Canadian cities at 12,630,871 pounds against 29,480,744 a year ago. During December butter holdings in the nine cities dropped 6,156,000 pounds.

Former Edmonton Salvationist Dies

Beverage Workers Protest New Hours

CALGARY, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Approximately 50 employees of Calgary beer parlors, most of them temporary help working as bartenders, will be out of work as the result of the new eight-hour day which went into effect Monday, Grant McHardy, secretary of Local 265 Beverage Dispensers Union, Calgary, said yesterday.

The union plans to protest the government action in ordering the eight-hour day without consulting labor. The local union will meet as soon as the conference of provincial liquor board chairmen at Ottawa gives a final decision on the question of hours during which beer parlors and clubs will be allowed to operate, Mr. Mchardy said.

He had received telegrams from the Edmonton, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge unions and a provincial conference of beverage dispensers will be called to discuss the operating cut, Mr. McHardy said.

D.F.C. Awarded Former Alberta Air Instructor

CALGARY, Jan. 6.—(CP)—The Distinguished Flying Cross has been awarded Flight Lieutenant Jack Abercrombie, flying instructor Flight commander and examining officer at No. 3 S.F.T.S. here from December, 1940 to February, 1942 for what has been described by the British air ministry as "one of the most brilliant pieces of flying of the war."

Receipt of the D.F.C. became known here through a letter a friend in the city received from Flt. Lt. Abercrombie recently.

The exploit for which he received the D.F.C. was accomplished in a raid over Italy before Christmas. Abercrombie flew over the city of Milan and dropped incendiaries from a height of less than 100 feet. The plane was hit many times.

Made Pretentious Claims Here

In this pretentious building, the Propaganda Ministry in Berlin, Dr. Otto Dietrich, the Fuehrer's press chief, made his pretentious claims of the annihilation of Russia's armies.

LAST TRAIN FROM BERLIN

BY HOWARD K. SMITH

man victory. The agency men had burst through the doorway and were giving short, hot bulletins over the phones to their offices. Axis and Balkan correspondents applauded and cheered, then stood and raised their arms in salute to Dietrich, who sped out of the room to return to the Fuehrer's headquarters and be on hand for the last terrible blows, the coups de grace, the Grand Finale.

REACTION OF PEOPLE

But what escaped almost every correspondent, was the reaction of the German people themselves. At this time, in the atmosphere of triumph, the feature was, after all, secondary to considerations such as the new strategic and economic advantages the total conquest of Russia offered Hitler. But when that atmosphere dissolved, when the true consequences became clear the main, and, for Hitler, disastrous feature was: the people.

The little thorn of prudence in the full strength of Dietrich's predictions from them. The papers published no direct quotations. But they din publish condensed, expurgated, indirect summaries of the "epochal" conference which were strong enough to make German hearts beat faster. Headlines shouted: "The Veil over the New Offensive is lifted"; "Dietrich Campaign in East Decided"! The Voelkischer Beobachter headline read: "The Great Hour has Struck! Army groups of Timoshenko, Voroshilov encircled— Budyenny Army-group in dissolution." Quoting the Fuehrer's order of the day to the army at the beginning of the offensive, to "strike the last mighty blow, which will crush this enemy before the beginning of winter" and to complete "the last great battle of decision of this year", the official Nazi newspaper commented in bold language, only a few degrees less perilously committal than Dietrich's own words: "That order has already essentially been carried out. In the sense of the Fuehrer's order, the strategic decision has already been gained. If ever the concept 'Blitzkrieg' was realized, it is here!—Seven short days have sufficed to deal a deathblow to the largest war machine in the world, a blow from which Russia can never, never recover."

RESPONSE ELECTRIC

The response was electric. There was visible alleviation in faces that for weeks had been dismally drawn. In Baarz' beer-restaurant behind Unter den Linden, people stood and saluted when the radio, after repeating the High Command communique, played Horst Wessel and Deutschland ueber Alles. Rumors, which are the dangerous daily diet of people in any totalitarian country where news is twisted or kept from them, spread over Berlin like wildfire. In Baarz', a waiter whispered to me, had I heard. Stalin had requested an armistice. At home, the janitor in my apartment house stopped me in the hall to tell me he had it from reliable sources who had good friends high up in the party that Moscow had fallen this noon. The civil population were hanging wreaths of roses on German tanks in joy at being liberated. It would be announced in a special communique tonight or tomorrow. In the days that followed, bookshops got in new sets of Russian grammars and simple readers for beginners in the language, and displayed shop windows full of them; the eagerness to get a job in the rich, new colony was everywhere. The economics minister of the Reich, Dr. Walter Funk, sat himself down and wrote a fine speech about Germany's colonial mission in Russia, entitled "The Contribution of the East to the New Europe", and next day the papers published it under the heading: "Economic Future Secured."

The horrible slaughter of Germany's best sons was nearing an end. The bury were being taken out of the Panzers by Christmas. To parched desert-dwellers, the rains had come. Even as God had promised, and his apostles confirmed. And grateful worshippers were wallowing joyously in the coolness of it.

Those were the balmy days, if I ever saw balmy days. It's almost too bad they did not last longer. But they didn't. The awakening was quick and harsh. Here is a genuine sequence, without a day missing, of front page headlines in the Voelkischer Beobachter on the days following the Dietrich episode. See if you can feel the draught:

October 10, 1941: (commenting on Dietrich's speech in big red letters spread all the way across the front page):

The Great Hour Has Struck

CAMPAIGN IN EAST DECIDED!

October 11: (in black letters):

EASTERN BREAKTHROUGH DEEPENS

October 12:

ANNIHILATION OF SOVIET ARMIES ALMOST CONCLUDED

Horrible Terror in Odessa; Soviet Deserters being Shot in Back.

October 13:

The Battlefields of Vyasma Bryansk Far Behind Front.

October 14:

Operations in East Proceed According to Plan (!)

October 15:

Operations in East Proceed as Foreseen.

And on this same day, the main headline read: Speedboats sink British Freighters from Convoy! Within two weeks after the greatest military blow in Hitler's history, one week of the Decision being Reached, and four days after Stalin's last armies were in dissolution, the sinking of a couple of British freighters in the English channel had become more important than the biggest military conflict in the world!

Veteran Soldier Given Promotion

CALGARY, Jan. 6.—(CP)—A veteran with almost 30 years continuous service in the empire's forces to his credit, Major J. O. Evans, M.C., chief instructor of the Currie Infantry Training centre, has been promoted to lieutenant colonel, it was announced yesterday.

He has served in Wales, France, Belgium, Germany and Palestine. He won his commission in the field while serving with the Imperial Machine Gun Corps, was awarded the Military Cross and Bar, and was twice mentioned in dispatches for his service.

In Palestine he was head constable of the British Gendarmerie from 1927 to 1927.

He pressed he is acting commandant at Currie in the absence of the company Colonel Louis Scott, D.C.M.

Lt. Col. Evans was sergeant-major instructor of the University of Alberta contingent of the C.O.T.C. for a number of years.

Prices Sky High on Alaska Road: Water Brings Five Cents a Pail

TORONTO, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Prices are sky high at Dawson Creek on the new Alaska highway, with beer selling for 50 cents—if you can get into the saloon—and water at five cents a pail you can't, Laurie Mills, home in Toronto on a holiday from highway construction work said yesterday.

He went to Dawson Creek in July and expects to return shortly, to be stationed 900 miles above the town.

"On parts of the highway you can drive a car 60 miles an hour," he said. "On other parts you could make about three miles in an hour."

Clothing is an expensive item, with shirts selling up to $8, caps up to $5, and a "cheap" pair of high boots at $16. A lunch worth about 25 cents in Toronto brings nearly $1 in the northern city, he said.

Mills says some easterners seem to stand the climate better than the natives, with temperatures ranging from 90 degrees in summer to 60 below zero in the winter.

British regiments and will be scattered all over the forward areas.

It was the fourth foreign assignment for the Canadian forces since the first contingent landed in Britain in December, 1939.

A small outfit of Canadians was landed in northern France at the time of that country's collapse. It was intended to take part in the defence of Paris but could not reach the city over the refugee-choked roads before the city capitulated and the Canadians were forced to return to Britain the way they had come, leaving their heavy equipment behind them.

AT GIBRALTAR

Canadian engineers worked long months at Gibraltar, building new tunnels in the giant fortress commanding the entrance to the Mediterranean and strengthening existing outposts.

A sizeable force of Canadians occupied the Arctic island of Spitzbergen in September, 1941, for several days until it had destroyed radio installations and the island's coal mines and evacuated the resident population of Russians and Norwegians.

Last August Canadian forces led the famous raid against Dieppe on the northern French coast where they stayed ashore nine hours, doing demolition work and fighting the fiercely resisting Germans who inflicted heavy casualties on them.

In virtually every theatre of the war from Alaska to Ceylon Canadians have been fighting in the air, many of them as part of the R.A.F. and others as members of the R.C.A.F.

It was considered possible that other Canadian draft would follow this first one to Africa to broaden the battle knowledge of the army.

ARTILLERY OFFICERS

In one of the villas where they have billeted men for some field artillery officers, including Captains N. B. Buchanan of Saint John, N.B., F. D. Brooks of Prince Albert Sask., A. May of Sydney, N.S., J. D. Muir of Kingston, Ont., and Sgt. Maj. E. A. Ayres of Hamilton, Ont.

A mile farther along the coast tank officers are quartered. In the ratio of their villa were Majors F. W. White of Winnipeg and Don Worthington of Vancouver, Captains E. G. Slyffe of Port Arthur, Ont., and G. A. Smith of Dauphin, Man., and Lieut. Laird Bovlard of London, Ont., who was with Maj. Gen. G. L. McNaughton's A.D.C. before leaving for Africa.

The Canadian quarters are almost luxurious and their field rations are adequate, especially when they can get inexhaustible supplies of oranges.

They are getting along famously with the British troops and learning about the front from British officers who have just returned.

Canadian troops have landed in North Africa—fourth continent on which Canadian troops have operated since start of the war.

The first division arrived in the United Kingdom in December 1939 and now an army of five divisions is stationed in England. Since then Canadian forces landed in France just before France fell in early June, 1940, destroyed installations at Spitzbergen north of the Arctic Circle in August, 1941 and formed the main part of the force at Dieppe last August. Other operations have varied from forestry work in Scotland to engineering jobs at Gibraltar.

HELD HONG KONK

A Canadian unit held Hong Kong until it fell before superior forces of Japanese on Christmas day 1941. Canadian troops on the South American continent have been stationed at points as widely separated as Alaska, Newfoundland and Bermuda. Canadian Air Force men and naval forces have been in action in almost every part of the world. R.C.A.F. airmen have struck at Nazi-held Europe from Norway to Italy and have been in action in Egypt, Libya, Ceylon, Burma and Alaska.

Canadian naval forces are handling a third of the convoy work in the North Atlantic and R.C.N. men were engaged at Dieppe and in the first landings in French Morocco.

Canadian War Writer Gets Biggest Surprise On Jaunt to Africa

News of the arrival of Canadian troops in North Africa came last night shortly after Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent who accompanied them, had landed in Africa. Munro, who covered the Canadian attack at Dieppe, wrote the following story while en route.—EDITOR.

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

Surprise, say the strategists, is rudimentary in successful warfare, and I'm inclined to think that it also must be considered by bosses as fundamentally necessary in the handling of war correspondents.

This conclusion has been reached after serving two years as CP war correspondent with the Canadian army overseas. During that time my life has been punctuated by surprises, the latest of which came when the news editor handed me instructions from head office in Toronto to start for North Africa "as soon as possible."

The news editor, Alan Randal, was the same considerate person who tipped me off four hours in advance that I was to leave Ottawa for overseas when I first was appointed war correspondent. That was my initial surprise on this job.

MANY SURPRISES

Since that I have been surprised to find myself on numerous secret manoeuvres; in Spitsbergen, on the beach at the storming of Dieppe. On a "surprise" trip back to Canada I covered 15,000 miles by air, involving two trans-Atlantic crossings and a two-way flight across Canada.

But this was the payoff when Randal summoned me from the field and showed me the order to get to North Africa.

It was pretty confusing, all the elementary procedure to obtain permission and passage to go there. After filling in and signing numerous forms I was hurried to the grim building that houses the war office. A dignified flunky in a uniform resembling a cross between that of a butler and a coachman, was thoroughly astounded to find me at the front door. Through these portals, he proclaimed as he shook the cold hackle jutting from his silk hat, passed only generals, ministers, etc.

At the side entrance they were more hospitable and after being led through endless marble halls by the incarnation of Mr. Pickwick himself, an affable officer looked at me and pondered. Then with a slight hint of skepticism he said "So you're going abroad."

Without mentioning the names of any places he made it sound as if I were starting off for the world's darkest wilderness. Just for a moment I felt like a Victorian empire builder about to start off for the distant colonies.

HEADING OR TUNISIA

Actually I was heading for the proximity of Tunisia where I expect temporarily to cover activities of the British First Army, which is not completely strange to me, having watched them training in their infancy 18 months back.

It was while we were waiting to start for Spitzbergen in the late summer of 1941 that we were based with a British outfit identified then only as "Force 110." We were "Force 111" and we became acquainted with many men and officers who spent their days practising sea landings along the coast.

One night we were guests of a Guards regiment aboard their ship and as we left after a merry time they waved and expressed the hope that we would meet again.

Little did we know that we were to head for Spitzbergen and none of us dreamed that this body of men with the unimpressive title of "Force 110" was to stage the prelude to the North African invasion.

Some of us thought that we might meet again but it never entered our minds that it might be on battlefronts so distant as the Barbary Coast, Algeria or Tunisia.

Mystery General Leading French From Lake Chad

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—That mysterious Fighting French column which has been reported advancing from the Lake Chad region of equatorial Africa northward into Libya is led by a 40-year-old general whose real identity is hidden by the nom de guerre "Gen. Jacques LeClere", a Fighting French spokesman disclosed yesterday.

Italian war reports have mentioned such a column and recent broadcasts from North Africa said it had reached the Fezzan Arda of Libya, about 600 miles south of the main Axis base of Tripoli. The size of the force, its exact route and destination have not been disclosed.

There is no French general in Africa by the name of "LeClere" and the Fighting French source here said "very few people know the general's real name."

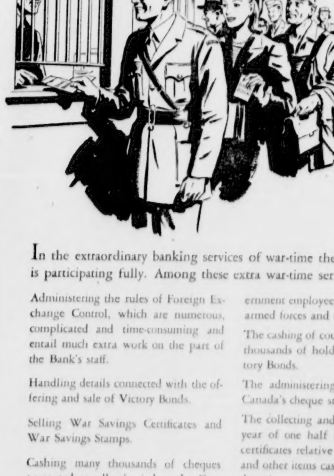

An announcement in July, 1940, said that all French forces in that area would be commanded by "Gen. Jacques LeClere." Since then the mystery man has carried that name.

Short, slight and fair-haired the general is bronzed deeply and wears a close-clipped moustache. A graduate of the famed St. Cyr Academy, he is noted for his taciturnity.

Most of his service had been with the desert cavalry, one of the most colorful of French armies.

Daily, six thousand men and women of the Bank of Montreal are willingly, through long hours, giving these war-time services at hundreds of branches from coast to coast.

WAR-TIME BANKING
Extra Services

In the extraordinary banking services of war-time the Bank of Montreal is participating fully. Among these extra war-time services are:

Administering the rules of Foreign Exchange Control, which are numerous, complicated and time-consuming and entail much extra work on the part of the Bank's staff.

Handling details connected with the offering and sale of Victory Bonds.

Selling War Savings Certificates and War Savings Stamps.

Cashing many thousands of cheques presented at tellers' windows by Government employees and members of the armed forces and their dependents.

The cashing of coupons for hundreds of thousands of holders of Canada's Victory Bonds.

The administering of much detail of Canada's cheque stamp law.

The collecting and clearing in the past year of one half million Income Tax certificates relative to coupons, cheques and other items cashed and received for deposit.

Why Not All Night?

The owl street car service in Edmonton, which provides transportation on a reduced schedule up until two a.m., has turned out to be a success. At the authorized fare of fifteen cents, enough passengers have used this service to make it financially feasible.

Why, then, not extend this service through the remaining hours of the night, on a still further reduced schedule and a further increased fare? At least, why not try the experiment?

It is not likely that traffic would be heavy after two in the morning, so a fairly substantial rate would be justified. But those who could object to paying twenty-five or even thirty-five cents for a trip across town in an emergency, that in ordinary circumstances would be made by taxicab?

No large city should be completely without transportation at any hour of the day or night. Emergencies constantly arise that necessitate stirring abroad at all hours and in all weather. And since taxicab service has virtually disappeared, and since Edmonton's large area and winter conditions make walking difficult or impossible over long distances, the street car is the only solution.

The City Council should therefore consider an extension of the owl service.

Warnings That Failed

A White Book published at Washington shows that Ambassador Grew in January, 1941, cabled from Tokyo that the Japanese had made plans for a "surprise mass attack on Pearl Harbor in case of 'trouble' with the United States."

What Tokyo meant by "trouble" is clear enough in retrospect. It was a convenient word implying refusal by the United States to kow-tow to Tokyo's demand that it be allowed to completely and exclusively dominate the Orient, which in effect meant dominating the Pacific ocean.

To obtain this information eleven months in advance of the event was a feat. To keep the Japanese from learning that he had obtained it was an even greater feat. Mr. Grew scored twice where to score once was an outstanding piece of service to his country.

If, as some critics at Washington say, the United States army and navy heads did not take the warning as seriously as they should, it is not for those in other Allied countries to point to the failure. Britain and France had quite as plain warnings of Hitler's intentions, and ignored them or discounted them to the same effect.

The broad fact is that statesmen and officials in the democratic countries could not believe that the Axis conspirators were the treacherous scoundrels they later showed themselves to be. The thing was that honest men measured the morals of Berlin, Rome and Tokyo by their own standards.

In India

Not much has been heard for some time from Wavell's force in Burma. No more in fact than was heard for a long time from another Wavell army, which suddenly broke the inaction and astonished the world by pouncing on Graziani's host at Sidi Barrani in December of 1940. There is probably a reason for the silence in the jungles along the Burma coast.

The fact that it was possible to invade Burma is encouraging as to conditions in India. This could not have been done if it had meant leaving a hostile India in the rear, or even a neutral India. There could be assurance of reinforcements, supplies, and troops to guard the lengthening communications, without exposing India to liability of attack by the enemy in upper Burma. And assurance also that production would go on, in any volume required.

The Indian army is a million strong. It is growing at the rate of 50,000 men or more per month, the number taken on depending on the training facilities and equipment available. The recruits come of course mainly from the hill tribes, whose perversion to pacifism, pro-Japanese or other, there has never been cause or room to suspect.

But the gathering of warriors would not in itself have made the invasion of Burma practicable. There had to be as well no danger of a slow-down in the munitions factories, and the operatives in these are largely Hindus. That they will continue to turn out the supplies cannot be in doubt by General Wavell and his advisers, since he is staking the fate of his invading force on their willingness to keep the wheels turning.

Gandhi's idea that the peoples of India should stand spectators and leave it to the British to preserve them from Japanese conquest does not appear to have impressed even the least warlike of the races.

Back to Margarine?

An eastern paper suggests that butter rationing would not be necessary if parliament would cease opposing the manufacture and importation of butter substitutes. In other words, margarine.

This is putting upon parliament a responsibility that does not wholly belong to it. It was the people of Canada, not the members of parliament alone, who decided that butter substitutes should not be offered for sale.

During the former great war margarine was made and consumed in Canada. But the restriction was only suspended because butter was so scarce and the price so high that it was unobtainable by people of ordinary means.

The margarine of that day was not inferior as a butter substitute, nor objectionable as an article of diet. It was good margarine, and easier to eat than poor quality butter. As against no butter, it was all to the good.

But when the war ended the restriction was reimposed, and there was certainly no popular objection to it being restored. Margarine had done well enough in the emergency, but when the emergency was past the consumer went back to butter, and approved the action of parliament in replacing the ban on the substitute.

The situation now is not the situation which brought margarine on the market during the former war. The country over, enough butter is being made to meet current requirements. An artificial shortage was created because people in some centres anticipated rationing and laid in large stocks in advance. Nor has the price soared to comparable heights, while the wages of butter-buyers are substantially higher than in the former wartime.

Should an actual and serious butter shortage develope, the case will then be different. But while there is nothing more serious than a hoarder-produced shortage in a few centres, and the price is kept within bounds, margarine is not a national necessity.

Few men were better known in Canada thirty-odd years ago than Hon. George P. Graham, minister of railways, and none was better liked. The Senator died at Brockville on Saturday, at the age of 85. He will be mourned by former opponents as by his comrades-in-arms of the fighting days. Enemies he had none.

Offensives continue to break out in Russia like a rash. The latest is reported —of all places—from the central Caucasus. Like the others in the southern sector, this drive is aimed in the general direction of Rostov. It will be no fault of the Red army if there isn't mass concentration of Axis troops in and around that city, with nothing to eat and not much to fight with.

"The exact amount of our effort today will determine in exact proportion the effort of tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow."—Dorothy Thompson.

Agricultural Production Is Basic War Problem

Farm Labor Difficulty Far From Being Obviated in The U.S.

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

The rationing in the United States of tinned, dehydrated and frozen foods was overdue. They are needed for overseas shipping, both in our own area and to supply our Allies. And the point system would seem to be the simplest one from an administrative standpoint, avoiding the separate rationing of every article.

But rationing alone will not solve what problems is becoming within the next twelve months the leading American economic problem — namely the production of food. It is a problem which has been shockingly neglected. And it has begun to assume serious dimensions, not only from the viewpoint of production but from its effect upon the social order.

Dorothy Thompson

At a time when we need more food than ever in our history, farms are closing down by the tens of thousands. Dairy cattle are being slaughtered in droves. A widespread price pilot could not accomplish as effective sabotage as follows from failing energetically to deal with the labor of farmers.

I spent the Christmas holidays in a rural New England community, a section that months two splendid and productive farms, within two miles on either side of my farm, have been dismantled. One is a five-hundred-acre farm with a new ten-thousand-dollar barn that normally supports fifty head of dairy cattle. Today there is not a cow on the place. The other is a two-hundred-acre dairy and general farm occupied for forty years by the same family. It was sold this winter and all the equipment auctioned. The buyer is a townman who wants it as a summer home.

In each case the answer was the same: "Our boys have been drafted." In each case no other labor is available.

In our town there are normally thirty-seven men on the farms. farmers depend for the repair work now more than ever essential, since there is a shortage of materials. All have left us, to work in defence plants.

Prices High

True, prices are high. But they still do not produce sufficient income to enable a farmer to compete for workers with the war industries. The most incompetent hired man can escape to the nearest industrial centre and, at some automatic process requiring less skill and manual effort than the manifold skills of the farm, earn an income the payment of which by a farmer would automatically wipe out all his profits.

The problem of transportation to markets is terrific, because of the gas shortage. That people in cities still run private cars causes the farmer to gnash his teeth. He is not only cut off from his market and shopping centre, but is socially isolated; his granges and churches are inaccessible. He is lonely.

It is all very well to accuse "the farm bloc" of "holding up the people," and "raising the cost of living," and on this ground refuse the farmer permission to reckon labor costs in price. But every industry in the country thus reckons labor costs. The price the farmer gets for his products, won at the hardest toil of any class of the American population, still does not enable him to compete for workers, and his profits are payment for his own labor, for he is not only a manager but a workingman.

In short, the farmer, if he cannot reckon labor costs in price on the same basis as industries reckon them must be supplied with labor from new sources and under different conditions. That has been obvious since the outbreak of the war to anyone who has studied the wartime farm problem here, or in any other warring country. Yet almost nothing has been done about it. Some farm boys are exempted; some Mexican labor is allowed to enter the country; it is all a drop in the bucket.

Hundreds of thousands of healthy sixteen and seventeen-year-old high school boys could, if the schools were dismissed earlier and assembled later, be available for seasonal work next summer. But absolutely nothing has been done, as a nationwide movement to mobilize them, give them pre-training, organize, and place them.

England has an efficient woman's land army, comparable in its status to WAACS and WAVES. Why haven't we? When the question is raised the remarkable answer comes, "Public opinion isn't ready for it." But who makes public opinion? Does it not respond to leadership, presenting the facts? Without energetic leadership, public opinion never will crystallize.

In spite of the fact that commentators and energetic restaurateurs have called attention to time and again to the terrible wastage of food that still goes on in restaurants, and would be stopped by some simple regulations entailing no red tape of any kind, these regulations do not emerge. Why not?

What does go on is a terribly cumbersome system of assigning farm priorities, under which four to six different bureaus have to pass on a few hundred dollars' worth of materials, holding up decisions for weeks. Why? Are not the local war boards competent to make these decisions in the first place?

City people write most of our newspapers. Perhaps that is one reason why the farm situation is the least publicized of any basic American problem. But unless we see and meet it, we shall shortly be appalled by the decrease in farm production, relative to our needs, and after the war we shall be confronted with the wreckage of communities that have been, perennially, the backbone of American life.

Editor Bulletin: I would be quite willing to add my "yank" to the rope that helps to hang up the puny, pallid, synthetic "Alcan".

If the official writing was Alaskan it would be better. This gives Alaska four letters and Canada three. Of course we will have much longer mileage than Alaska but I can think of nothing better unless Alahican, accent on hi, could be found to mean something in Cree, Blackfoot or Sioux language.

Farmers Neglected

Editor, Bulletin: The agriculture conference, called to consider what amounts of Canadian foodstuffs would be required for the coming year by the United Nations and the Canadian people, was composed of the representatives of the various provincial departments of agriculture and the federal government. Characteristically, the organized farmers of Canada were ignored.

Contrast this with the British government and that of the United States. In these countries when matters of importance with regard to the production of foodstuffs are to be considered, the farm people are the first to be consulted instead of ignored as they are in Canada.

Not long ago another body of men met at the federal capital. Again a matter of importance to all the people of Canada, but more particularly to the Canadian farmer. This body dealt with and decided the amount of agricultural machinery and replacement parts which would be produced in the coming year. Were the farmers present? They were not.

Surely the government does not harbor the delusion that all wisdom of our Canadian brains and ability are vested in the lawyers, professional men, industrialists, financiers and politicians, who in the main compromise the personnel of those bodies and have such a dominating influence on Canadian life today.

To be anything of a farmer today, one must be a business executive with some knowledge of blacksmithing, carpentry, tinsmithing, plumbing, electricity, chemistry and meteorology.

The one thing that most of them lack is recognition of the fact that in a highly organized world organized farmers must not be and be forgotten men insofar as the government is concerned.

Farmers, as they come to the point with us that we organize to protect ourselves or we go down to the lowest depths of a starving peasantry. We are 33 per cent of the people of Canada and at times we have received as low as eight per cent of the national income.

Money's Source

Editor Bulletin: You are to be congratulated for publishing that article "From What Source Does the Country's Money Come?" by G. G. McGeer, K.C., M.P., and I have been wondering how many of its readers grasp the full significance of its meaning.

I have been endeavoring for some time to point out how futile are our efforts to plan a reconstructive economy when we present banking laws. The first essential step should be to scrap our present banking laws, which let the banks where they belong, in the civil service under, entirely new banking laws, and start on a real nationwide campaign to accomplish that very thing.

"The Bulletin" with its wide circulation and broad views might well throw its hat in the ring and take the lead.

It is a little early to prognosticate how far the Progressive Conservatives will go, but if they are sincere in their progressiveness and will go the limit they can be pretty well assured of being the next government.

If we are going to have a permanent, successful reconstruction program we must do something more than make a lot of empty promises of how much we are going to pay our returned men and women. Far better than that, even, if possible, is assured opportunity to work at a fair pay guaranteeing a high standard of living.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Experts See Tank Becoming Obsolete; Plan to Give It Wings

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The 78th Congress now opening, will live up to all advance notices of curtailing the Government's non-war spending. But, despite talk about a coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats, don't look for any serious tampering with New Deal economic reforms.

With a presidential election coming up in 1944, the Republican leadership in both Houses will take no chances of antagonizing labor by supporting efforts of anti-New Deal Democrats to repeal the Wagner Labor Relations Act and the 40-hour week. Both of these laws will remain on the books.

Drew Pearson

Here's a roundup legislative preview of the new session:

Labor—The only legislation affecting organized labor with a good chance of being enacted will be a bill outlawing racketeering in labor unions and requiring international unions to register with the government and publicly report their finances.

Farm—The farm bloc will have the upper hand in both Houses. It almost certain to force through legislation further increasing parity price ceilings on farm products. Such a step will open the door to runaway inflation, but farm bloc leaders are confident they have the votes to override all veto.

Agricultural spokesmen already are busy behind the scenes trying to stimulate a logroll whereby they will withdraw their opposition to the 48-hour week if laborites reciprocate on the proposal for higher parity ceilings.

Taxes—Despite senate agitation for a national sales tax, congress will not accept it. However, don't be surprised if the house ways and means committee works out a new pay-as-you-go formula for income taxation, probably calling for monthly payments.

Economy—Wholesale slashes will be made in the budgets of all government departments except war, navy, state and, possibly, she treasury.

Investigations—The committees on executive expenditures in both houses, which have been inactive for several years, will come to life with a bang. One agency whose spending activities will receive a thorough going-over is the federal works agency.

For the first time, Representative Martin Dies will run into serious opposition in the form of the house of his un-Americanism investigating committee.

Capital Chaff

About 250 to 300 Marines, were WOL just before a recent Marine Corps birthday ball for the Solomons. Turning up at camp just after it was too late to sail there were too many to load some to the brig and a lot slept outside under guard. . . . So far the penalty for desertion has not been heavy until the third offense. . . . Representative Wilburn Cartwright of Oklahoma grabbed off the honors when retiring house members were being toasted on the day congress adjourned. . . . No less than 17 colleagues, including five Republicans, delivered speeches paying tribute to the popular Oklahoman. . . . Asked for comment on threats by isolationists Senator Burt Wheeler of Montana and Representative Clare Hoffman of Michigan to "investigate" him, William Maloney, the justice department's ace sleuth of subversive activities, replied: "I have no fears so long as the hearings are open to the public."

Army Ordnance experts now foresee the time when the tank which made France fall, will be outmoded and discarded as a useful weapon. In fact, they say the tank will be discarded for large-scale combat before the war is over.

Death of the tank is the anti-tank gun. If you can mount a large enough gun—and give it sufficient mobility — you can blow up the enemy's tanks and cripple his mechanized forces completely.

This is just what happened to Rommel in his recent African debacle. He had previously enjoyed superiority in anti-tank weapons. While the British were still using a 75 mm. gun, Rommel (the desert fox) brought into action an 88 mm. gun, and to conceal it from the British until they were on top of it, buried the guns in the sand.

This was what caused the rout of the British forces last June.

But now the British have stepped up the calibre. They have an American-made 105 mm. gun, mounted on a tank chassis, and it was this weapon, known as a tank destroyer, which outshot the German 88's and crippled the German tanks in the most recent battle of Egypt.

Thus the tank has met its Nemesis in the form of a tank destroyer. The only defense against the destroyer is to load on more armor—but the more the armor, the less mobility.

Ordnance experts see the next step as a step into the sky. In other words, the next tank will be an airplane. It will be a heavily armored plane, protected by fighter escort, and moving at low altitudes to dodge from the air the same sort of destruction which the tank has been able to do from the ground.

Meanwhile, the tank is still operating in Russia. But experts here are awaiting the time when the tank destroyer (105 mm. gun) appears on the Russian side, to blast German tanks out of action. It is merely a matter of shipping.

Machine Gun

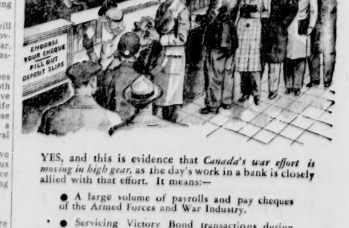

There was a buzz of excitement when a man who said he represented Col. William Donovan, chief of the Office of Strategic Services, showed up at the Treasury's Department's Procurement Division, demanding a machine gun.

The Procurement Division has a bristling armory of revolvers, sawed-off shotguns and other weapons which have been confiscated under the "illegal possession" clause of the National Firearms Act. As it happened, there was one Thompson submachine gun in the collection. The last word anybody in the man. However, he stubbornly refused to reveal what the gun was to be used for, as the ground that this was military information. "Col. Donovan needs it right away," he kept insisting.

Procurement officials finally agreed to turn over the "Tommie" gun if they had a letter from Donovan authorizing the action. The OSS representative departed with a grunt, but returned the next morning, bearing a letter from Donovan, and received the weapon.

However, the Procurement Division still would like to know what Col. "Wild Bill" Donovan, famous for his military exploits in the last war, wants with a submachine gun in his capacity as boss of the government's busiest, and most secretive, war intelligence unit.

YES, and this is evidence that Canada's war effort is moving in high gear, as the day's work in a bank is closely allied with that effort. It means:—

- A large volume of payrolls and pay cheques of the Armed Forces and War Industry.
- Servicing Victory Bond transactions during campaigns and at other times. Regular over-the-counter sales of War Savings Stamps and Certificates.
- Dealing with necessary Government Regulations (Foreign Exchange—Travel—Import and Export of Goods . . .) on behalf of the public.
- And in addition, providing the many banking services necessary to the country's activities.

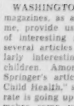

Many of our trained men are now with the Armed Forces but our staff carries on. Your co-operation by banking early in the day will be helpful.

My Day

BY ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON. — The January magazines, as a whole, it seems to me, provide us with a great deal of interesting reading. There are several articles which are particularly interesting to people with children. Among them, John K. Springer's article, "The Battle for Child Health," shows that our birth rate is going up in this country and makes some valuable suggestions on how to meet the problem of prenatal care. Dorothy Thompson's article by Raymond Nathan on the way our schools are mobilizing to prepare our youth "for the realities of the world in which they find themselves."

David Cushman Coyle, who is to me one of the stimulating writers on economic questions, has an article on "Planning a World of Plenty." In it he points out that we are learning things in these hard war years that may be valuable in teaching us how to live better in the future.

One of my hopes is that, because we are forced to do certain things now, we may find these lynchings more interesting, pleasant and worth doing at all times. We may become better neighbors and live together more happily in our communities, because of what we learn in this period.

Miss Dorothy Thompson has sent me the "Christmas Declaration," which was released on Monday, December 28th, to the newspapers. It is signed by loyal Americans of German descent and addressed to the German people. It is a fine appeal and we hope that it will reach many of the people now under the Nazi heel in Germany and make them realize that there is a faith in this country that some of the fine German qualities we know in the past still exists among the people there.

In the Washington Post yesterday, there was an editorial addressed to the Japanese people which I hope will be widely read. It spoke of the fact that he had allowed mob violence to take the lives of a number of our states, and one of our minority groups had been five times the victim of this type of mass murder.

It quoted Virginius Dabney, writing concurrently, and pointing out that three of these lynchings had occurred in a state where a man in this minority group had announced that he would run for office. The editorial is one that I think all of us should read and take to heart, for we, too, must be trusted to deal justly with the rest of the world if we do not deal justly at home.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Jan. 6—(AP)—Stocks dawdled along a narrow trail today, almost leaderless. Tending to induce caution was a belief President Roosevelt's budget message will call for the greatest expenditures in history and that taxes will be heavier. Volume shrank to around 500,000 shares.

LONDON STOCKS

LONDON, Jan. 6—(CP)—The stock market had a generally firm tone at the close today although many stocks finished below the day's best levels.

British funds recorded new gains averaging 5-16 of a point.

Industrial shares were generally higher. The best groups were diamonds, coppers and tea shares. Home rails also improved. Oils were steady.

Winnipeg Wheat Trade Is Small

WINNIPEG, Jan. 6 — (CP) — Wheat trade was at a minimum on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today with the May future closing ⅛ cent higher at 93⅛ cents a bushel. Chicago wheat was down ⅞ cents.

No export business was confirmed in Canadian wheat or flour.

Cash wheat trade was slow with only odd carlots trading on an all rail basis to eastern buyers.

Coarse grain cash dealings were more active, however, with more than 500,000 bushels taken for rail shipment to the United States. Spreads were firm.

In the futures market oats eased fractionally in spite of fair support by mills and shippers. Trade in barley futures was thin with prices in this commodity also down. Rye held at ceiling levels with southern houses taking all offerings.

Country marketings at Winnipeg yesterday totalled 541,000 bushels compared with 268,000 bushels a year ago. Grain inspections at Winnipeg yesterday amounted to 251 cars against 240 cars last year.

French Fleet Still To Join With Allies

By WES GALLAGHER

ALGIERS, Algeria, Jan. 6.—(AP)—An authoritative source said today the political complications following the death of Admiral Jean Darlan made no change in the Admiral's pledge to use the French fleet at Dakar with the Royal and United States navies and caused no slackening of pro-Allied French military effort.

"French sailors have been saddened by the Admiral's death, but there has been no slackening of their morale and they are ready to take their ships to sea against the Axis when they are ordered, which will be as soon as possible," said this informant whose identity may not be divulged.

World Chaos Seen When War Is Over

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Jan. 6—(AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said yesterday the people of Great Britain "must soon decide if they will accept rationing for three years after the war in order to feed other nations," and that in the United States "we are going to have to make sacrifice in peace as in war."

Mrs. Roosevelt did not explain why the decision must be made or the reason for her specified three-year time limit, but added:

"They will not like this because they have already done this (submitted to rationing) for three years."

"After the war there will be a complete state of chaos throughout the world," she said in an address before a forum of women students of Syracuse university. "Nations will be in revolution unless people of other nations are going to police them."

Logging Accident Takes Man's Life

R.C.M.P. superintendent J. D. Bird, was informed Wednesday of the death of Arne Axel, Suomi, Alta., who was killed in a logging accident at the C. I. Edwards Lumber Co., camp near Rocky Mountain House, at 12:15 p.m. Monday.

According to the report received from Rocky Mountain House R.C.M.P., detachment, Axel felled a tree which fell upon a dead tree. The dead tree struck Axel on the temple killing him instantly.

Dr. A. C. Greenaway, Rocky Mountain House, viewed the body and decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Air Vice-Marshal Among 11 Killed In African Crash

CAIRO, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Air Vice-Marshal Wilfred McClaughry, commanding the Royal Air Force in Egypt, was among 11 persons killed Monday in an airplane crash, it was disclosed today.

Lady Tedder, wife of Air Marshal Sir Arthur William Tedder, Vice-Chief of Staff of the R.A.F., was killed in the same crash. Her death was disclosed yesterday.

McClaughry, a 48-year-old Australian, served in the Australian infantry in the early days of the First Great War, later shifting to the Royal Flying Corps, the forerunner to the Royal Air Force.

Fatal Rail Crash Believed Caused By Telegraphist

NORTH BAY, Ont., Jan. 6.—(CP)—A coroner's jury inquiring into the deaths of five railwaymen, last night brought in a verdict in which jurymen said they believed the accident was caused by an error in judgment on the part of G. R. Williamson, telegraph operator at Kilrush, who allegedly gave a westbound freight a "clear" signal when a "stop" signal should have been given.

Jurymen also found that a contributing factor to the accident was fatigue of Williamson, who had been on almost continuous duty for 28 hours.

The railwaymen were killed Dec. 28 in a head-on collision between two Canadian National Railways freight trains about a mile and a half east of Nipissing Junction.

Burn to Death

JOJUTLA, Mexico, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Eleven persons were burned to death and 25 others were seriously injured Monday night when a match ignited the gasoline tank of a bus in which passengers were en route to a dance.

Canucks Being Prepared For Offensive Role

By FRANK FLAHERTY

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Military authorities here said today they regard the sending of a detachment of Canadian officers and non-commissioned officers to North Africa as another step in preparation of the Canadian army for its big future offensive role.

The main purpose of the move was believed to be to enable these key men in the various arms of the service—infantry, artillery, armored corps, army service corps and others—to obtain battle experience, to see the arms of which they form a part operating under battle conditions.

WILL GO TO FRONT

It is expected they will go to the front with the British 1st Army when it collides in force with the Axis armies in Tunisia.

The belief today was that an official statement on the movement would be issued by Defence Minister Ralston in the near future.

The Canadians are likely to see and participate in the kind of fighting which will be necessary in an offensive against the Axis in Europe or elsewhere.

It will involve both attacks on heavily defended and fortified positions like the cities of Tunis and Bizerte and other strong points, as well as the kind of fast-moving desert warfare in which the British 8th Army performed so well in its advance across Egypt and Libya during the past few months.

DESIGNED FOR OFFENCE

The Canadian army in Britain, with its heavy proportion of armored formations and its high mobility, is designed for an offensive role. It is believed to be as well trained for that role as any army can be trained by instruction and field manoeuvres.

No matter how perfect training may be, however, in actual operations new situations crop up. The army will be the better for having in its ranks men who have seen such situations, seen them mastered, or observed the causes and consequences of failure.

Prominent Negro Scientist Dies

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Dr. George Washington Carver the noted Negro scientist, died last night at his home at Tuskegee institute.

Dr. Carver had been in falling health for some months and was confined to his bed for the last 10 days.

Born of slave parents, at Diamond Grove, Mo., he was never sure of his birth date, but once estimated that it was "about 1874."

He became a member of the Tuskegee Institute faculty in 1894 and has been attached to the Negro institution ever since.

Dr. Carver was recognized as one of the outstanding scientists in the field of agricultural research. He discovered scores of uses for such lowly products as sweet potatoes, peanuts and clay. From the south's red clay and sandy loam, he developed ink, pigments, cosmetics, paper paint, and many other articles.

Eight Men Die In Mine Blast

DUCKTOWN, Tenn., Jan. 6—(AP)—Eight men were killed and the lives of more than two score others endangered here yesterday in an explosion at the Tennessee Copper Company mine.

General superintendent Lamar Weaver of the mine said a routine detonation of a normal amount of dynamite, set off at 3 p.m., caused a dust explosion which in turn interrupted the working of an air fan.

Eight bodies were recovered within a few hours after the explosion Weaver said, and 14 other miners suffering from varying degrees of axphyxiation, were under treatment at Copperhill and Ducktown hospitals. The remainder of the shift of 54 men in the 10th level, where the explosion occurred, escaped serious injury, he said.

Britons Are Asked To Tighten Belts For Ration Cut

LONDON, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Britons are going to be asked to tighten their belts a few more notches, the food ministry said yesterday in announcing that reductions will be made in food rations, but added that the process will be so gradual it may not be noticeable for some time.

Reductions will begin Jan. 11 and will be spread over six months. Extent of the reductions was not announced immediately.

The move will make more shipping space available for war materials.

Anglican Bishop Of Montreal Dies

MONTREAL, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Rt. Rev. Arthur Carlisle, 61, Anglican bishop of Montreal for the past four years, died at his home here late yesterday after a lingering illness.

He became bishop of Montreal in March, 1939, succeeding Rt. Rev. John Farthing, who had retired earlier that year because of ill health. Before that, Dr. Carlisle had been dean of Montreal and rector of Christ Church cathedral.

Students Fail

WINNIPEG, Jan. 6 — (CP) — Between 80 and 100 University of Manitoba students failed in their December examinations and now are subject to compulsory military training under terms of a Federal order-in-council, it was learned yesterday.

Canuck Fliers In Aleutians Get U.S. Medal

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Jan. 6—(AP)—Four R.C.A.F. pilots yesterday were awarded the United States army air medal for heroism against the Japanese in the Aleutians.

Maj.-Gen. Simon B. Buckner, Jr., commanding the Alaska defence command, awarded the medals to:

Sqdn. Ldr. Kenneth Arthur Boomer of Ottawa; FO. James G. Gohl, Boissevan, Man.; FO. Robert Lynch of Sidney, B.C. and PO. Harold O. Gooding of Ottawa.

On Sept. 25, these pilots flew with United States army combat pilots, accompanying heavy bombers on a hazardous 500-mile trip over open water to attack Kiska Island. The mission of protecting the bombers completed, the fighter planes returned voluntarily to strafe enemy installations with remarkable success. All planes returned safely.

British Minister Arrives in States

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The British supply council reported last night that Col. John J. Llewellin, former British minister of aircraft production, had arrived in the United States to assume his duties as resident commissioner in charge of supply, and council chairman.

Llewellin continues his membership in the British cabinet, the announcement said.

As minister of aircraft production, Col. John Jestyn Llewellin was a key man in the R.A.F.'s great offensive last year against the Axis.

Report Chile Is To Break With Axis on Friday

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 6.—(AP) — A high foreign office source said last night the Argentine government has been informed that Chile will break relations with the Axis Friday.

President Juean Antonio Rios of Chile, this source said, would send a message to congress at that time asking an immediate rupture of diplomatic and commercial relations with Germany, Italy and Japan, following a final secret session of the Chilean Senate Thursday.

MINISTER RETURNS

This informant gave his information only a few hours after Raul Morales, Chilean minister of the interior, had arrived at Santiago, the Chilean capital, from a tour in which he visited the United States, Brazil and Argentina and interviewed high officials, including the presidents of the three countries.

His last stop was in Buenos Aires where he had opportunity to impart full information on the situation.

Soon after his arrival in Santiago, Morales was closeted with President Rios, who called a cabinet meeting immediately.

A break of relations with the Axis by Chile would leave Argentina as the lone western hemisphere country maintaining normal diplomatic connections with the Axis.

This background made him a natural man for the important post of minister in charge of supply matters in Washington.

Bears Claw Police 40-29; Saints Beat Alcans 42-16

Five-Way Deadlock, Men's Hoop League

SPORTS BULLETIN

LAST night's doubleheader basketball attraction at Westglen produced the two best games seen in the men's hoop league on any night yet and President Clare Hollingsworth's circuit is certainly full of promise for the future, particularly now that five teams are tied for first place.

City Police out on their best display of the season, checking well and making the Golden Bears go the entire route. Hon. Solon Low's Latter Day Saints had a fairly substantial margin in the matter of scoring over the Alcans, but not in ball carrying.

As a matter of fact Coach "Smitty" Smith's Alcans are just about the smoothest ball toters in the entire league, filling down only when it comes to shooting. And last night they only had six men on the floor, which made it just that much tougher as the Saints are a fast breaking team.

BEARS BEST SHOTS

ANALYSIS of the shooting by the cagers last night shows Paul Rick's Varsity players had the edge, the Golden Bears coming through 17 times out of 53 chances for a percentage of 32.7.

Latter Day Saints' shooting accuracy was 27.4 per cent as a result of registering for 19 baskets from 69 shots. Coach Mike Hilliard's Police hoopsters did quite well too, even although they dropped their game, for they capitalized on 11 chances out of 42 for 26 per cent. Alcans had a total of 45 shots but cashed in on only five of them for a percentage of 11. They failed to find the basket 10 successive times in the last quarter.

Best marksmanship of the night was that shown by the University boys in the third quarter, in which they started out four points down to the Police. Out of 11 shots they rang the bell seven times, Sammy Shenkter made three baskets out of four tries, Bernard Critchfield and Burns Larson each coming through on their single chances and Al Manifold clicked on two out of four. Jack Switzer missed his only basket try, but he sank his only free throw.

R.C.A.F. VS. CANADIANS

TONIGHT'S clash between Coach Jimmy Anderson's "M" Depot club and the Canadians will be the second time these two teams have met this season. The Canucks won their first test with the R.C.A.F. 5-2, but the Airmen looked good that night, in fact much better than they did on New Year's and they may just reverse the decision this evening.

Bob Gillies has made several changes for tonight. He is using Billy Dawe of last year's South Side juveniles, Vic Kuzyk, who began last season with the club and did fine work the winter previous, as well as Darcy Duncan, also with the team last year.

The Canadians will start Bill Lancaster in goal and they have Frank Popovich, Glen Gray, Darcy Duncan and Earl Chisholm for defence. Jock Tennant will centre one line along with Frank Barr and Vic Kuzyk, while Ken Cox will pivot Bing Merluk and Jim Fleming. Bill Jenkins, Nick Krawchuk and Billy Dawe will make up another string.

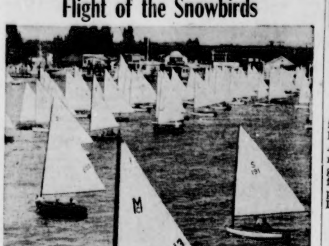

HERE AND THERE

INTER-SERVICE hockey will start tomorrow night, with the first of the bi-weekly doubleheaders. Navy plays No. 4 I.T.S. on the latters' home ice, while Army meets No. 3 A.O.S. The "M" Depot is the fifth team in the league.

"M" Depot continues to set the pace in the Inter-Service Basketball League and Sergt. Bardsley is still maintaining his shooting record. Reg Robertson in last night's Navy versus U.S. Air Corps game established a new mark for a single game of 27 points.

Bill Ruff's Stadium Flyers appear to be starting in just where they left off last year when they copped off the city midget title. The Flyers have not been beaten yet and have now a comfortable lead.

Flight of the Snowbirds

Flight of the Snowbirds, world's largest yacht race, is held at Newport Harbor, Calif. The winner over a six-mile course was Hal Tallmage of Los Angeles in 12-foot craft.

Francis Top Scorer With Total of 13

Varsity's Golden Bears defeated City Police 40-29 and Latter Day Saints stopped Alcans 42-16 in Tuesday night's doubleheader at Westglen gym and accordingly forced a five-way tie for top place in the Men's Basketball League.

U.S. Army Engineers, Y.M.C.A., University of Alberta, Latter Day Saints and Alcans now all have two wins good for four points in the league standings. The Alcans however have lost two, the other four just having one setback charged against them.

Harold Francis, son of Hon. Solon Low's Saints was high scorer for the night with a total of 13 points, while Phil Sontag also of Saints and Ken Shaw of the Police each had 10. Jack Switzer was top man for Varsity with nine, while Bob Tilley, Don Richards and Al Kohutek divided equally 15 of Alcans' points.

Although they lost out to the Bears, the showing of the City Police was their best of the year The Constacorned the students 8-3 in the first quarter and although Paul Kirk's squad had an 18-14 lead at the half-way mark, Police came right back and held their own in the thigrd quarter, which ended 24-20.

It was only in the final session that Varsity was able to draw away and even then the Police stayed well with the leaders.

Jack Switzer contributed eight of the 16 points gathered in by the Bears in the final quarter, with Burns Lawson adding four and Bernard Critchfield and Nori Mischin two each.

The nine points made by Police in the last canto were to Benny Wheatfield (4), Mike Hilliard (3) and Ken Shaw (2).

Police had 42 shots and made good on 11, while Varsity clicked on 17 out of their 52.

SAINTS HAVE BIG EDGE IN SHOOTING

Latter Day Saints had little difficulty in romping through the Alcans 42-16 win over Alcans in the second game of the double bill, but if the Alcans had been able to shoot as well as they carried the ball, the result would have been vastly different.

Out of a total of 45 shots Alcans got points on only five, while on the other hand the Saints capitalized on 19 out of 69 chances.

Saints led at the end of the first quarter 8-4. Alma Baker and Harold Francis collecting two fields goals each, while Al Kohutek scored one and added a singleton on a free throw. Bob Tilley was adding one from a foul shot for Alcans.

Half-time count was 20-11 and the Saints added 14 more points in the third session, while holding their opponents to only three.

Saints made eight in the fourth, while Alcans' only scoring came from free throws by Don Richards and Tilley. Kirkham (2), Bill Hanson (2), Jack Chrest (2), Phil Sontag and Alma Baker with one each were Saints scorers in the final quarter.

Great Exhibition by Goalies

Saskatoon Flyers Register First Win Over Regina Army

SASKATOON, Jan. 6—(CP)—Saskatoon R. C. A. F. Flyers chalked up their first victory of the season over Regina Caps, Saskatchewan Senior Hockey League leaders, when they turned back Cpl. Murray Armstrong's fast skating soldiers 4-2 at the Arena here last night before 2,200 fans in a thrill-packed lightning fast contest.

The Flyers led by their PO. Eddie Wiseman, Cpl. Roy Conacher and LAC. Bob Brownridge line, built up a four-goal lead in the first two periods and held the Caps to two counters in the third.

Saskatoon's ace line figured in all of their goals with Conacher scoring twice, once off a pass from Brownridge and once after a play with Wiseman and Brownridge. Wiseman picked up the third counter off Brownridge's pass and shot a long forward to Shep Mayer for the final goal.

L.Cpl. Red Tilson* off a relay from Cpl. Murray Armstrong, scored the first Regina goal and L.Cpl. Sandy Sandelack bagged the second on a brilliant individual rush.

Sharing honors with the goalgetters in the interesting game were the rival goalies, LAC. Russ Dertell for the Flyers, L.Cpl. Tiger Mitchell for the Caps. Dertell was at his best in the hectic first period when he turned aside 16 close range shots, while Mitchell was handling 12. Mitchell was at his best in the middle session when the Flyers had the better of the play but were only able to beat him twice out of 15 tries. Mitchell also stopped four more shots than Dertell in the final period.

Regina's "big five" L.Cpls. Sandelack and Butch McDonald, and L. Cpls. Don Metz and Red Tilson and Cpl. Murray Armstrong carried most of the load for visitors and frequently stayed on the ice for six and seven minute stretches without a rest.

DiMaggios Not Sure of Status Marital Trouble

RENO, Nev., Jan. 5—(AP)—Joe DiMaggio's wife, Dorothy, gave the impression last night that nobody —not even she and Joe—can be sure what the score is right now in regard to their marital estrangement or to the speculation that he might quit baseball to seek enlistment in the armed forces.

"It's always been a woman's prerogative to change her mind," said the wife of the New York Yankee centerfielder.

"Joe'll probably have something to say in a day or two, after he gets back to San Francisco."

Mrs. DiMaggio made her remark over the telephone from her Riverside hotel suite where she settled last Dec. 1 to establish Nevada residence—first prerequisite to getting a Reno divorce.

She said that Joe, the hard-hitting outfielder who has been in Reno for five or six days, was absent, probably arranging to return to San Francisco.

Craig Wood Not Giving Up Hope of Another Title

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 6—(AP)—Craig Wood shrugged off his 41 years, minimized a back operation which will keep him away from a golf course for eight months, and talked confidently Tuesday about winning the first United States open championship to be held when peace comes.

The fact he has been in bed nearly a month because of a recurrent spinal ailment didn't dim his enthusiasm as he explained:

"If the war doesn't last too long, I don't see why I shouldn't win the Open again. There won't be any new contenders to worry about at first, and the old ones I defeated in 1941 aren't getting any better."

Wood is staying in bed now except for occasional trips to an osteopath so that he can get ready for a projected exhibition tour with Joe Kirkwood for war relief.

Canadians Play R.C.A.F. Tonight

Canadians play No. 3 "M" Depot in tonight's scheduled junior hockey league game at 119 Street rink. Starting time is 8:30 as usual.

These clubs met in the season's opener and the Canadians won out 5-2. Several changes have however been made in both teams since then.

No Fuel, No Ice; Game Postponed

NEW YORK Jan. 6.—(AP)—They even use fuel oil to make ice. Eastern Amateur Hockey League games scheduled for last night at Madison Square Garden have been postponed to conserve the fluid.

Although the Garden's heating plant has been converted to coal, the ice-producing machinery is yeared to oil as a fuel and can't be changed.

City Midget League

Canadians Tie Leafs 3-3; Flyers Trim South Side 4-1

In City Midget League games played last night the Maple Leafs and Canadians battled to a 3-3 draw at the 119 street rink and the Stadium Flyers defeated the South Side club 4-1 on the latter's home ice.

King scoring two goals and assisting on the other tied the Maple Leafs, while Fleming who tallied one and assisted on the other two led the Canadians in a see-saw affair that was almost won by the visitors.

The Cats got the only first period tally when King finished off a relay from Wagner.

The Canadians came through with an equalizer when Mitchell netted one on an assist from Fleming early in the second stanza and later took the lead with a goal driven home by Fleming on a pass from Crosley.

The Maple Leafs tied this score in the first few minutes of the last period when Wagner tallied from King. This was followed by another by King on a relay from Chris tha' put the visitors in the lead again.

It looked as though the Leafs had the game until Crosley came through with a tally on an assist from Fleming with just 10 seconds to go.

Lineups:

Maple Leafs: McManus, Palmer, Junkas, Chris, Patterson, Wallace Richards, Wagner, Parris, Forrest, Hilliard.

Canadians: Kumitch, Dea, Goslin, Emberg, Nazarchuk, Wendt, Fleming, Crosley, Jackson, Levitt, McClocklin, Crombie, David.

Referee—Steve Olander.

The game in which the Stadium Flyers trimmed the South Siders 4-1 on the latter's home ice, the visitors had a 1-0 lead until the hour was scored to end goalie Weidersfield's hopes for a shut out.

The Flyers opened the scoring mid-way in the first period when Anderson tallied on an assist from Waring for the only goal of the stanza.

The visitors netted two more in the second frame, one from Manson's stick on a relay from Moore after 10 minutes of play and the other was driven home by Merkl- at 19 minutes on an assist from McNally.

The Flyers continued scoring in the third period when McLean on

NEW YORK, Jan. 6—(BUP)—The war has rolled a money "strike" for bowling, providing the crashing pins game with 17,000,000 participants who spent approximately $1,626,000,000 during the past season.

These totals for 1942 represent an increase of about 35 percent in all departments over 1941, according to Al Cirillo, managing editor of the National Weekly Pictorial Bowling News.

Cirillo, who has just completed a national survey, smiles condescendingly upon the other popular "national" sports—like baseball, football and basketball and hockey.

"Never in the history of the game have bowlers taken the sport so seriously" he said. "Even with the cancellation of the American Bowling Congress for the first time since its inception, the craze has continued on all fronts."

BOWLING INCREASING

WITH 600,000 bowlers in the American armed services, one would expect that the game would be hurt to a certain extent, but that's not so, according to Cirillo, who emphasizes that the stream of dollars pouring into the pockets of war workers—men and women—means more games rolled throughout the country, at all hours of the day or night. The big contribution is being made by women defense workers, who have provided about 4,000,000 new bowlers.

Meanwhile service men on leave from their posts bowl in the cities and towns. At some of these municipal alleys, the owners arrange for uniformed men to roll free, realizing that they will more than pay their way by bringing in civilians to bowl with them.

Editor Cirillo says that the bowling year is restricted to about 250 days, eliminating the hot period from mid-June to mid-September. During the season, he claims the average bowler spends about $1.50 a week—not including refreshments.

Concerning priorities for bowling equipment, Cirillo explains that virtually none of the regular bowling balls—with their two-inch hard-rubber shell, are manufactured any more, although most dealers have them on hand because wholesalers stocked up when they saw war coming.

NO more pin-setting machines are being manufactured because of priorities, and the accent is on human pin-stickers. But there is a shortage here too because so many of the young alley-hoppers have joined the services. There is a movement afoot now to bring in girl pin-setters, but they must be husky to stand the work.

Major league ball players and managers continue to enter the bowling game, just as they did in the past. Some of the well-known operators are Freddie Fitzsimmons, Jimmy Dykes, Lefty Grove, Ray Schalk, Bob Feller, Red Faber, and Everett Scott. Dykes operates on a large scale, according to Cirillo, owning a large chain of alleys in Philadelphia.

Who is the largest individual bowling operator in the United States?

Cirillo said he thought it was Peter Parkas of New York, who started years ago with one alley emporium, and now controls one of the largest establishments in the city.

WHIRLAWAY TO RETIRE

THE turf's greatest money winning horse of all time—Whirlaway—will be retired to stud at the conclusion of the 1943 racing season, Trainer Ben Jones said yesterday.

Several conferences between Jones and Warren Wright, owner of the thoroughbred, top horse on the Calumet Farm roster, brought about the decision, Jones revealed.

"Mr. Wright has been figuring on retiring Whirlaway for some time," Jones said. "He plans to use him for stud purposes and while something may happen to alter that decision, it appears final now."

The five-year-old chestnut has been assigned top weight of 132 pounds for the March 6 running of the $25,000 Widener Cup at Hialeah Park. He never has won with more than 130 pounds on his back.

Define Training Areas

Major Leagues Open Later; Season Extended One Week

CHICAGO, Jan. 6—(AP)—The major baseball leagues, in emergency joint session with Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis, decided Tuesday to set back the opening of the 1943 baseball season eight days to April 21, but voted to extend the playing period one week, closing on Oct. 3.

They also drew up a sharply defined area in which they may do their spring training, with the understanding each club would condition at home, or as close as possible, in the interest of curtailing rail travel.

Teams, they decided, must train north of the Potomac and Ohio rivers and east of the Mississippi, with the exception of the two St. Louis clubs which were given the option of using Missouri as a site. This decision ruled out as training bases the south Atlantic seaboard states and Hot Springs, Ark., mentioned as possible alternate sites after Florida and California earlier were listed as "out of bounds".

EASTMAN PLEASED

In Washington Joseph B. Eastman director of the office of defence transportation, said he was "greatly pleased by the action which the major leagues took yesterday to reduce their travel requirements for the coming season."

Eastman said the only request as had made of baseball men was that they hold travel to the necessary minimum.

Landis personally announced results of the two-hour parley. He said the 154-game schedule would remain in effect, including three east-west trips, previously agreed upon. Since 1936 each club made the cross-country junket four times.

"Transportation during spring training will be held to a minimum," Landis said, "and after spring training there will be need for utmost co-operation on the part of the various clubs to cut man mileage as much as possible."

He said the question of reduced personnel on road trips would be left up to the individual clubs.

The commissioner, who conferred last week with Eastman in Washington presided over the meeting which was attended by men from all the 16 clubs except Washington Senators.

Bomb Japs with Bottles

War Correspondents Take Cue From Brooklyn Fans

WITH U.S. FORCES ON GUADALCANAL, Jan. 6—(BUP)—War correspondents on Guadalcanal must at one time have been baseball writers. At any rate, they have a thorough knowledge of the way Brooklyn Dodger fans express displeasure.

The writers were casting around for a way to get back at the Japs for the sleepless night they had caused them by bombings and shellings.

Finally they hit on an idea. And when the Yanks next raided Munda, on New Georgia Island, the correspondents rode in one bomber. And gleefully they bombed the Japs—with empty beer bottles.

It was the only way they could do it.

The frock-coated gentlemen who dreaded the ruins of war at Geneva had designated correspondents as non-combatants. And as such they could be bombed, shelled and sniped at. But they couldn't wield a weapon in return.

Finally the correspondents hit on the idea of the beer bottle bombing. A diligent search of the conventions of international war procedure failed to disclose any ban against beer bottle bombings.

So away the writers went to uncork their anger a la Brooklyn.

Postpone Game

RED DEER, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Red Deer Army Wheelers were advised yesterday that their scheduled Alberta Senior Services Hockey League game here Jan. 6 with Lethbridge Bonners will be postponed until the night of Jan. 7. Time of the game also has been set back an hour from 8:30 p.m. until 9:30 p.m.

Skater Enlists

WINNIPEG, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Edwards L. Drewery, 18, well-known figure skater was among 31 young men enrolled at the R.C.A.F. recruiting centre Monday.

Armstrong Wins By Wide Margin Over McDaniels

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Henry Armstrong, former triple 135-holder, won a 10-round decision last night over Jimmy McDaniels, 24-year-old Los Angeles fighter. The judges' decision was unanimous. Armstrong weighed 140¾ and McDaniels 147.

It was the bull shouldered negro's 158th battle in his amazing attempt to regain some of the ring glories which he once held, and his 14th victory.

Armstrong employed the same old windmill style of attack which carried him to the featherweight, lightweight and welterweight titles, and while he may have slowed a little, he looked a great deal like the Henry of old as he methodically went about his task.

McDaniels appeared on several occasions to be attempting to open the fight up—to keep Henry away where he would be a target for long rights and lefts, but Jimmy never had much luck as Armstrong kept perpetually crowding in.

The battle started slowly with each man feeling the other out. It speeded up in the second, and from there on until the eighth was a rousing struggle all the way. There were no knockdowns, although Henry had his heavier opponent dazed in the seventh from a series of jolting rights and lefts to the head.

The belt saved McDaniels from possible disaster, however, and he came out for the eighth looking as strong as ever.

Association to Hold Meeting

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The American Association will meet today to deliberate methods of travel curtailment and other wartime plans for 1943.

"We probably will follow pretty much the pattern set by the major leagues yesterday insofar as spring training is concerned, said George Trautman, president of the league.

Minneapolis reported last night it would drill at Terre Haute, Ind.

Tough Question!!

TORONTO, Jan. 6.—(CP)—The telephone shrilled in the sports department of a Toronto newspaper. "Daily Star? and a feminine voice enquired:

"I wonder if you could tell me who won the Oxford-Cambridge boat race in 1862?"

The reporter leaned through reference books and replied: "Oxford."

"Now—there's just one more question," said the voice sweetly. "What was the score?"

Albany Manager

ALBANY, N.Y. Jan. 6.—(AP)—Jimmy (Ripper) Collins, first baseman of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals of 1934, Tuesday signed a one-year contract to manage Albany of the Eastern League. Collins piloted Albany to a pennant in his first season as player manager last year.

Year 1942 Best For British Snort Since War Began

By ALLAN NICKLESON

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(CP)—British, a country at war to the death, closed her 1942 sports chapter on the most successful year since the first air raid sirens blew. Not only that but all signs point to post-war sport being bigger and better than in all history.

More persons now are participating in games than ever trod Britain's sportsways at any other time. Sport is a strong point with a government that believes games of all kinds are essential to fitness and morale from the point of view of both spectators and participants.

Sports runs of 1942 scarcely had a dull moment, in addition to such British pastimes as football, cricket, horse-racing, track and field, boxing, rugger and golf, baseball and softball took a firm hold. They established themselves as major sports—at least until the boys from overseas head for home.

Hockey, mostly confined to teams from units of the Canadian armed forces, is headed for its greatest season since that mass migration of Canadian ice stars to Britain a few years before this war.

The country is filled with athlete-members of the Allied Nations' armed forces. Sports of all kinds are a feature of every camp. Equipment isn't plentiful but the country takes time out from making munitions to see that there is enough manufactured to carry on.

The King showed favor towards wartime sport by running his horses throughout the season and even appearing with the Queen at Newmarket last June to see his crack mounts run in two classics. That was when Sun Chariot won the Oaks but Big Game failed in the Derby the following day.

KING'S HORSES WON

To the fetlo' and his missus who like to wager a sentimental bob on the King's racer, the successes of Sun Chariot and Big Game in four classics—the 2,000 guineas, Oaks and St. Leger—augured victories for Britain on the field of battle. And they were right.

It was disappointing to them when Big Game finished a dismal sixth in the historic Derby as Their Majesties looked on, but they cheered mightily as Lord Derby's Watling Street pounded to victory. It also was a sad day for Gordon Richards, rider for the King and Britain's champion jockey who, at 38, has won every classic but the Derby.

The King, however, made royal history by finishing the season at the head of the winning owners with stakes won to the value of $46,400. The stakes would have been much bigger in peacetime.

The filly Sun Chariot wound up her racing career by being voted the outstanding racer of the season. Both she and Big Game, leased by the King from the National stud of Ireland, have been retired for breeding.

Flat racing, however, will continue next season on its already-restricted lines. Except for such open races as the classics, horses cannot travel to tracks beyond the area in which they are stabled.

GOOD YEAR FOR SOCCER

Football stands more favorable today than at any period of its four wartime seasons. After a struggle to keep the game alive, active interest is ever-increasing. Plans for a prompt resumption of peacetime schedules when the war ends have been made.

Two international soccer matches at London's Wembley stadium drew crowds of more than 60,000 each. Tops for a league match so far this season is 25,000.

Royal Canadian Air Force soft-ballers drew crowds of 15,000 with Sunday doubleheaders in London's Hyde Park. Americans and Canadians drew large crowds to baseball games in Wembley Stadium and played other matches with a recently-organized English team, Hornsey Red Sox. The Sox didn't have much luck.

Lord's continued as the cricket centre of the universe with games between the forces that featured the best cricketers in the game. Rugger also continued but on a more reduced scale than other sports.

White's Victory Over Willie Joyce Pleases Lighties

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP)—All the lightweights aiming at Sammy Angott's abdicated championship probably felt a lot better yesterday. Slugger White gave Willie Joyce a clouting in Baltimore Monday night and practically eliminated himself from the lightweight tournament to decide Sammy's successor.

Willie is a walloper out of Gray, Ind. Because he's Joe Louis' brother a gaudy record in recent activities and because he's been pretty much of a mystery mauler around these parts, the rest of the tournament tussilers haven't been too anxious to tangle with him.

"Yeee," dumb Don Morgan, the Jacobs beach raconteur, explained. "Everybody knew Joyce is a pretty tough kinda fighter. And now that White has knocked him off, each of the boys figures it amounts to a win for himself."

Stomach and tonsil ailments threw Promoter Mike Jacobs' January fight program into a state of confusion.

The tonsils belong to Henry Armstrong, the former three-title holder who was to have met lightweight champion (New York version) Beau Jack on January 29 in Madison Square Garden. The ailing stomach is the property of Allie Stolz, the Newark (N.J.) boxing ace, who was slated to tangle with featherweight boss (also New York brand) Willie Pep in the Garden Jan. 15.

Both of these non-title fights will have to be set back. As a substitute for one, Promoter Jacobs tentatively pencilled in a Jan. 15 bout between the winner of Friday night's Bob Montgomery-Chester Rico affair against either Slugger White, Baltimore belter, who won the Maryland portion of the lightweight championship Monday night; Juan Zurita, highly-touted Los Angeles fighter, or Joey Peralta of Tamaqua, Pa.

All are in the nation-wide tournament now being conducted to decide on a successor to Angott, and if the planned Jan. 15 tussle is made, it would be one of the tournament's 15-round eliminations.

Newark Bears Not Going South

NEWARK, N.J., Jan. 6.—(AP)—The Newark club of the International Baseball League Tuesday cancelled plans for spring training in Wilson, N.C., and planned instead to train somewhere in New Jersey, Pennsylvania or Maryland.

The 1942 minor league pennant winners originally planned to train at the Bears' regular spring site, Sebring Fla., but two weeks ago decided to change to Wilson, N.C., to save transportation.

Dave Castilloux Leaves for West

MONTREAL, Jan. 6.—(CP)—LAC Dave Castilloux will leave today for Calgary to train for a return match in Edmonton Jan. 29 with Pte. Al Gaudet for the Canadian welterweight title.

Castilloux took a decision when the two fighters met here a few months ago in a victory loan program.

Albertan Downed by Nazis Apologizes for "Absence"

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—(CP)—A Canadian pilot who, from a prison camp in Germany, wrote his squadron commander apologizing for his absence, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

The pilot is Sqdn Ldr. Graham Cox Campbell of Conard, Alta., who was missing after a night attack on Warnemunde early last May. He managed to parachute from their Hampden bomber, Campbell and his rear gunner, PO. George Howard Soper of England, Ont., were eventually reported alive in Germany. The two other crew members were killed.

First communication Wing Cmdr. Doug Bradshaw, Canadian commanding officer of Campbell's squadron, received from his former flight commander was a postcard reading:

LUCKY TO LIVE

"Dear Sir: Sorry I have been absent the last three weeks but I'm extremely lucky to be alive enough to write this. Super and I are okay, only slightly injured but I'm afraid I know nothing definite of the rest. Give my regards to the boys and have a pint or two for me. Graham."

Campbell's decoration was awarded for "consistent good work, aggressive spirit and showing a fine example of leadership during his career with the squadron."

He joined the R.A.F. some years before the war and had completed some 20 bombing operations before being posted to the Canadian squadron upon its formation. He captained a Hampden bomber on the squadron's second operational night, and had been in six operations against enemy targets when he was reported missing.

Sqdn. Ldr. Campbell has a brother in the R.C.A.F.—PO. R. C. Campbell, also stationed in Britain.

No Change in Price Control Farm Products

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Finance Minister Ilsley, commenting on a published report, said last night there has been "absolutely no proposal before the government to transfer any control of the price of agricultural products from the Prices Board to the Department of Agriculture."

The minister said that conferences are always under way looking toward means of bettering agricultural production, but that a change of administration from the Prices Board to the agriculture department in the price field has not been considered.

ILSLEY RESPONSIBLE

Mr. Ilsley is the minister responsible for operations of the Prices Board, Agriculture Minister Gardiner at present being in Washington attending a food conference with United States officials.

The finance minister was asked if he cared to comment on a report published yesterday to the effect that the government was planning an entirely new foods administration, with the Department of Agriculture replacing the Prices Board in the driver's seat.

The report said such an announcement could be expected sometime after conclusion of the Washington food conference. Under the new set-up, it said, one of the top men in the agriculture department would emerge as "food czar."

This man and his advisers would fix "production floor and consumer buying prices." Production quotas for basic food crops would be set, "tailored to the demands of the armed forces, civilian consumers and overseas shipments."

Record Output Of Honey Seen For This Year

By JAMES McCOOK

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Canadian bees, with luck, will zoom to a record during 1942 hauling home enough 1/20,000th-pound loads of honey to make a total of more than 40,000,000 pounds to sweeten the nation's diet.

Agriculture department spokesmen said yesterday that if the weather smiles the bees will achieve that target for the year, comparing with 37,205,900 pounds in 1941 when the honey legions often were "grounded" by unfavorable conditions, and with about 38,000,000 in 1938, the previous record year.

DOES INDIGESTION WALLOP YOU BELOW THE BELT?

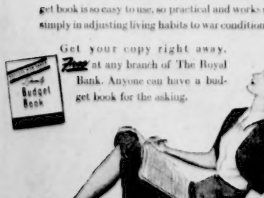

Help Your Forgotten "25" For The Kind Of Relief That Helps Make You Raise To Ga

More than half of your digestion is done below the belt—in your 25 feet of bowels. When indigestion strikes, try something that helps digestion in the stomach AND below that.

What you may need is Carter's Little Liver Pills to give needed help to that "forgotten 25 feet" of bowels.

Take one Carter's Little Liver Pill before each meal. Take them according to directions. They help make up a larger flow of the 2 main digestive juices in your stomach AND bowels—help you digest what you eat—assist in Nature's own way.

Then most folks get the kind of relief that they can feel before it's hardly time to feel it. Feel far more regular than you ever did. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills from your druggist—25c.

Yes, and she'll continue to keep a budget because the wartime edition of the Royal Bank family budget book is so easy to use, so practical and works so simply in adjusting living habits to war conditions.

Fire-Fighting B.C. Vicar Now 'Bomb Hunting'

By ALAN RANDAL

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(CP)—There must be people in Vancouver and around Grouse Mountain who remember Rev. John Newton Sykes, Vicar of The Holy Trinity Church in London's East End, as a sweat-streaked, smoke-blackened man who for three days and nights helped fight a British Columbia forest fire.

They would be people who knew the vicar during a 15-year stay in Canada, but today in the little back streets of Stepney people call him "The vicar who follows bombs on his bicycle."

In the New Year's honors' list he was awarded an M.B.E. (member of the Order of The British Empire) for work during London's air raids, an award which pleased his parishioners and the ARP workers he helped.

"He seemed to smell danger and run after it," one Stepney Warden said. "He was the hero of dozens of incidents."

In 1913 Mr. Sykes went to Vancouver where he became headmaster of the Chesterfield school for boys, returning to London in 1928. When the bombings started he plunged into ARP work.

Admiral Nimitz Gives Son Medal

PEARL HARBOR, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz yesterday awarded the Silver Star to his 27-year-old son, Lieut. Chester W. Nimitz, Jr., officer on a submarine operating in enemy-controlled waters, and the Navy Cross to Capt. Ernest G. Small, commanding officer of the cruiser Salt Lake City. It was the first time the commander-in-chief of the United States Pacific fleet had seen his son in 3½ years.

Daily War Map—Exclusively in The Edmonton Bulletin

It was reported last week that the Russians were moving supplies over the ice of Lake Lagoda into Leningrad, and preparations appear to be in train for an effort to break the siege of this important city. The accompanying map illustrates the general position on the central front and shows how the Soviet army is steadily driving a breach between the German siege forces north of Lake Ilmen and the main German supply centres west of Moscow. It can also be seen how the whole nerve centre of the German military organization centred at Smolensk is being threatened by encirclement.

Ukrainian, Russian Residents Open Special Christmas Fete

Edmonton and Northern Alberta citizens of Ukrainian and Russian origin who are followers of the Orthodox faith, commence observance of the Christmas festive season Wednesday evening. Coming 13 days following the "Universal" Christmas, the festive season commences Wednesday and will conclude January 20.

Christmas Day comes on Thursday and New Year's day a week later. Interspersed also between Jan. 6 and Jan. 20 are holidays on Jan. 8, 9, 19 and 20.

ENDS LENTEN PERIOD

The Christmas season marks the closing of a six week's lenten period observed in various degrees of strictness by followers of the Orthodox faith. The lenten season commenced the last week in November.

Last lenten meal will be eaten Wednesday evening in the form of the "Holy Repast" when 12 dishes, featuring such increasingly popular tid-bits as holuptsee, perohe, borsch and special preparations of fish, beets and mushrooms, will be served.

Carrolling will hold sway during the remainder of Christmas Eve and this will be followed at midnight with observance of special midnight mass. In some churches Christmas mass is observed at 6 a.m. Christmas day.

In Edmonton Rev. Peter Meinyschuk will officiate at mass in the Ukrainian Orthodox church, 96 street and 106 avenue, and Rev. John Wasil, will officiate at the Russian Orthodox church, 96 street and 101 avenue.

In the rural communities Christmas Day Thursday, will be observed by neighborly exchanges of greetings and church carrolling.

OPEN ENTERTAINMENT

Christmas night will mark the opening of the entertainment season which was suppressed during the six weeks lenten season. The residents will participate in house parties, community parties and public dances.

During the six remaining holidays of the Christmas festive season the residents will observe them by attending church services in the forenoons and will conclude each day with various forms of entertainment.

During the lenten season the firm believers of the Orthodox faith do not participate in any form of entertainment including dancing and partying. Gay music is also "taboo."

There were no animal products or bi-products included in their meals during the six-week period. Such "staple" foods as meats, eggs, milk, cheese, and cream as well as such ingredients as lard and butter, are not used and are replaced by such less popular foods as fish, corn meal dishes, vegetables and vegetable oils.

Acute Shortage Of Alberta Labor Seen in Spring

CALGARY, Jan. 6.—(CP)—The Spring of 1943 will bring a shortage of manpower even more serious than that which developed in Alberta during 1942, W. Harry Rose manager of the Calgary Employment and National Selective Service office, predicted yesterday.

With almost 50 per cent of the crop still on the ground in many districts, his office anticipated a heavy agriculture demand for men early in the spring, or possibly sooner, depending on the weather. Present indications are that the labor requirements of the construction industry will be just as great as in the spring of 1942 and it is anticipated that the demand will start earlier this year.

Cold Storage Egg Stocks Now Scarce

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Cold storage supplies of eggs are only a fraction of those reported a year ago, but food supply authorities said yesterday the position of the consuming public has not been endangered.

A Dominion bureau of statistics report on cold-storage egg holdings at Jan. 1 in nine cities placed the total at 9,936 dozen against 30,216 dozen on the same date a year ago and 379,193 dozen at last Dec. 1.

Farm Petition Demands Economic Adjustment by Ottawa

Busy Official

Earle Hay, secretary of the 49th Battalion (Edmonton Regiment) Association, who reports that the annual banquet and re-union of the organization Saturday, promises to be largely attended.

Old Comrades 49th Battalion Plan Re-Union

During the Great War of 1914-1918, a total of 6,000 men served in the 49th Battalion (Edmonton Regiment) in France and Flanders. To maintain the original strength—1,000 men—there were required 5,000 more to replace casualties and other wastage due to service in action.

Most of the men came from this city, but others came from the surrounding territory, including one company, "Steady D," from the Peace River area, a tribute in that district which at the time the 49th was recruited, was enjoying a great boom.

Many of these gallant men lie beneath the flaming-red poppies "In Flanders Fields." But their memory will be recalled and the glorious achievements of the battalion will be revived at the annual banquet and re-union of the 49th Battalion Association at the Macdonald hotel at 7 p.m. next Saturday.

Old "Forty-Niners" with berets and arm-bands will gather and rekindle memories of the days when they waded through the marshes atop the Passchendaele Ridge, and were swept with machine-gun cross-fire at Mosselmarkt and Meetcheele, until Private Cecil John Kinross, divesting himself of all equipment save rifle, bayonet, and bombs, crept to the pill-box housing the guns and, single-handed annihilated the German garrison, enabling the battalion to go forward to one of its greatest triumphs.

OLD COMRADES

Ther- will be memories of other fights. There will be memories of good times, never-to-be-forgotten days that can come only when "good fellows get together."

Before the banquet the regimental band of the 2nd (Reserve) Battalion, Edmonton Regiment, will play a concert in the Macdonald hotel rotunda. A bugler will sound "Cook-house Door" and a piper will "play" the Forty-Niners into the dining room.

Maj. Gen. W. A. Griesbach, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., K.C., original officer commanding the battalion, and president of the association, will be chairman.

Earl Hay and the hard-working committee report arrangements have been completed to take care of a large assemblage.

Many Seeking Work in City Officials Say

Applications for work at the Unemployment Insurance Commission have been unusually heavy so far this week, officials state. One of the principal reasons for this being that numbers of farmers have come into the offices looking for work. Farmers, it is reported, have come from as far as Saskatchewan towns looking for work during the idle farming season.

Only two jobs, however, are open to farmers under the present national selective service, that is work in either the mines or lumber camps. In these jobs farmers are only given permission to work until spring when farm work opens up again.

PERMITS RESTRICTED

Previously it was possible for the commission to give out permits for farmers to take any kind of employment but now these permits are restricted to work in lumber camps and mines only.

It is impossible for the demand for workers for the mines and lumber camps to be filled from the ranks of the farmers, officials state, and at present there is need of 1,000 loggers and bushmen if the production of 1942-43 is to equal that of 1941-42.

The unusual number of applicants at the commission's offices is also due to the fact that a lot of employees have been laid off following the end of the Christmas season rush.

Getting Around
Jack DeLong

We had a visit yesterday afternoon from "Ollie". "Ollie" is a pleasant-faced former farmer of Scandinavian extraction, who is nearing the 60-year mark. "Ollie" told us that a certain matter has him worried. "I wish you would put something in The Bulletin about it, because I am not very good at spelling," he explained. We told him to go ahead and tell us all about what was worrying him.

"Well, it's like this," Ollie began. "I've been in Canada nearly all my life. Canada is a wonderful country; the best country in the whole world. We have everything we need. But the question bothering me is this: Why do they have to fight in Europe before we can be busy in Edmonton?" he asked.

We asked him to explain, so he went on.

"Well, during the last war I made so much money I was ashamed of it and then right after the war was

62 Prosecutions By Wartime Board

Number of prosecutions by the enforcement division of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board during the week of Dec. 28 to Jan. 2 inclusive, totalled 62. Of these 36 were infractions of board regulations, while 26 were infractions of controller's regulations of the department of Munitions and Supply.

For exceeding the ceiling price of meat, one dealer was fined $600. Honoring ration coupons before the valid date cost a chain store $200.

Eight of the prosecutions were for infractions of price control; 16 for rental, nine for rationing, 13 for gasoline rationing and 12 for abuse of tire regulations.

Start Paying Pension Bonus In Near Future

Reciprocal payments of monthly bonuses of $5 to old-age pensioners of Alberta and British Columbia will start immediately, now that B.C. has passed the order-in-council to this effect, Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer stated Wednesday.

"All that now remains to be done is receipt of a letter by us from the B.C. government authorizing payments to B.C. pensioners resident in Alberta," Mr. Low said.

The Alberta cabinet minister expressed great satisfaction at the action of the B.C. cabinet. Alberta took the lead some weeks ago by authorizing payments of the bonus to B.C. residents here while seeking a reciprocal agreement from the B.C. government in respect to Alberta pensioners resident in that province.

A-R-O-U-N-D THE TOWN

In an assault case heard Wednesday in city police court, Nick Johnson on Sopovich was found guilty and fined $10 and costs. He was found guilty of assaulting Nick Demchuk.

Pleading guilty to a charge of assaulting his wife by striking her in the face, Herbert Joudrie was remanded in custody for one day to await sentence. He appeared before Police Magistrate A. J. Millar, K.C., Wednesday.

William W. McVay, in city police court Wednesday, was fined $25 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of dangerous driving. Since no accident was involved, the question of suspension of his drivers' license was not considered.

When a short circuit in a high tension wire "tripped" the safety switch controlling the city's power lights throughout the city went off momentarily shortly after 4.30 a.m. Wednesday, power house officials state.

Promotion to the rank of squadron leader of J. D. Paterson of No. 4 Initial Training school has been announced. He is a veteran of the First Great War and is at present commanding officer of No. 4 Training Squadron and is in charge of all canteen services.

Word has been received that Allen Kitchen, engineer of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Kitchen, 10972 128 street, has received his wings with the rank of Sergeant-Observer at a recent graduation ceremony at Portage la Prairie. PO. Kitchen who is of Winnipeg, took part of his training at No. 4 Initial Training School, Edmonton.

Following the short vacation sittings of the supreme court, civil division, will be resumed on Monday, Jan. 11, with Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor presiding. Sittings of the supreme court, criminal division, will open on Monday, Jan. 18, and also on that date sittings of the Alberta appeal court will commence.

Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat locals of the Beverage Dispensers' union will protest the adoption of an eight-hour day for vendors, beer parlors and licensed clubs, according to an announcement made by officials. The change in hours will throw some 50 men out of work in Edmonton alone, it is estimated.

Services to be held Wednesday night in observance of the special week of prayer, will take place at Central United, the Rev. Daniel Young; Delton Baptist, Capt. Fred Waller; Norwood United, the Rev. A. B. Patterson; Highlands United, the Rev. A. Elliott; Strathcona Baptist, the Rev. Ronald Watts; Christ Anglican, the Rev. Dr. M. A. McKinnon, and Westmount Presbyterian, J. S. Clarke.

Edmonton retail shops have developed no shortage of beef similar to that in eastern Canada, recent check-ups show. Only danger of a shortage in retail stores would occur if stocks became sufficiently low to hamper deliveries to the stores, or, of a drastic shortage occurred in the east. This would result in an order "freezing" packer beef stocks similar to that made last October. Calgary and Vancouver markets have been improved by the shipment of 12,000 head of cattle from the Nation-Clareshoim area to the packers. No fresh pork is being offered the retail trade by Alberta packers.

Foreclosures for Debt Claimed Taken Despite Production Below Cost

Members of the Alberta Farmers' Union have been circularized with a petition demanding of the dominion government immediate remedial action to rectify the present farm economic structure which "does not give cost of production to the western farmer," H. E. Nichols, secretary of the A.F.U., announced Wednesday.

Mr. Nichols declared that the petition emphasizes that although the Dominion government has in effect what amounts to a gigantic "lock-out" there is no agricultural strike. He stated that the "lock-out" is created because the Dominion government refuses to accept delivery of all farm grain while at the same time is allowing foreclosure proceedings to be taken against those unable to meet their debts.

The petition asks for immediate remedial action on four points which stand in the path of firmer economic security for western farmers. It then enumerates 11 "long-range" proposals which could be implemented once the tour immediate essentials were remedied.

DEBT MORATORIUM

Through the petition the A.F.U. members ask for a moratorium on all secured debts for the duration of the war and two years afterwards. They ask for security of tenure for all farmers for the same length of time.

In item three the petition outlines the need for raising the price ceilings of farm products above the cost of production to a level that would insure a reasonable wage return, as is done in all war service contracts.

Lastly, the farmers ask that a floor be placed under all farm products providing for cost of production at least.

The petition asks that the above four essentials be guaranteed by the dominion government in order that steps may be taken to implement the following "long-range" farm policies:

PARITY PRICES

1. Parity prices for all farm products using prices prevailing in 1926 as a basis of computing "parity."

2. An equitable adjustment of farm debts with provision made to ensure that the earning power of the debtors' original equity in dollars be figured on the same basis as that of the creditors' dollars.

3. Adequate provision for supply of skilled labor.

4. Adequate quota of scrap and new iron to be made available for country blacksmiths, and an adequate provision of materials for new machinery and repairs.

5. Adequate provision for financing farm operations so that implements of improvements and changes can be facilitated.

6. Wage ceilings and commodity price ceilings supported by government bonuses.

7. Zoning of the province into wheat growing, mixed farming and pasture areas.

CONTROL BOARDS

8. The establishment of agricultural control boards composed mainly of practical farmers to ascertain the price spread which should reasonably exist between the raw product and the processed article and to fix price spreads between the different grades of farm products.

9. A scheme of crop insurance for the western provinces.

10. A system of paid farm storage.

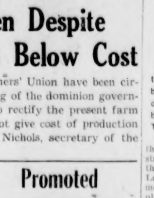

11. Advances on grain stored in farms up to 80 per cent of its sale value.

ROAD REPORT

A.M.A. Safety Slogan: Every hour is a danger hour—drive carefully.

Wednesday's road report: All roads in the province are reported good with clear weather with the exception of four. They are Lac la Biche, which reports heavy roads; Waskatenau, which is closed east; Two Hills, closed north, and St. Paul, which is closed. Clear weather is reported at these four points.

Promoted

Wing Commander Stan McMillan, R.C.A.F., word of whose promotion from Squadron Leader to the rank of Wing Commander was received here Wednesday. One of the best-known pilots flying the Arctic wastes from here in pre-war days, he is given a share in the credit for pioneering the present air route to Alaska.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

Action by the British Columbia government to enter into a reciprocal agreement with Alberta to increase by $5 monthly the old-age pensions of senior citizens prompted the Inquiring Reporter to seek opinions on this action.

THE ANSWERS

ALD. MRS. G. A. CLARKE: This is an action that will receive the greatest support from all sections of the public. The allowance to old age pensioners has been too small to permit them to live in decency, especially since the cost of living increases have raised the price of everything. It is to be hoped that this is but the first step by the governments to relieve the distress amongst the aged and unfortunate. I would like to see the mothers' allowance increased also.

PAT THOMPSON, salesman: I am very much in favor of the increase in this allowance, and consider that action should be taken to advance the amount paid on the Mothers' Allowance also. Such advances are right in line with the trend of public opinion, and governments should make it their business to translate that opinion into action.

* * *

WILLIAM JONES, carpenter: The recognition by government of the necessity for these increases is a healthy sign in our public life. The advances should not stop with the Old Age pensioners, but should be carried into other social service fields.

Nine Promotions Alberta Soldiers

Nine promotions were announced Wednesday at headquarters of Military District No. 13. Seven corporals at A16, Canadian Infantry Training Centre, Currie Barracks, were promoted to the rank of sergeant—G. H. W. Ashley of Banff, F. C. Cooper of Edmonton, H. P. Forsey of Calgary, J. W. Kirkwood of Waskatenau, C. Morris of Vilna, R. M. H. Otterson of Vermilion and R. R. Robertson of Innisfail. Sgt. Cooper served from 1919 to 1926 with the Imperial Army.

Sgt. J. Tennent of Edmonton, stationed with No. 3 Special Employment Coy., Edmonton, has been promoted to the rank of C.Q.M.S., and Pte. J. E. Torsli of Sylvan Lake is now corporal with 16 Brigade Group Coy., R.C.A.S.C., Red Deer.

Street Railway Traffic Passes 20,000,000 During Year 1942

Sweeping well above the predicted 20,000,000 mark, passenger traffic on Edmonton's street railway system during 1942 totalled 21,348,681 compared with 17,177,517 for the previous year, an increase of 4,171,164. It was announced Wednesday by Thomas Ferrier, street railway superintendent.

During December 2,491,882 passengers were carried on the system against 1,837,428 in December, 1941, an increase of 654,454. The average daily patronage of the service during December, 1942, was 80,383. The all time high for traffic on the system in any one day was broken twice during this month.

Traffic during the first few days of January is being well maintained at the December levels, and it is thought that 1943 will be an other record-breaking year.

Early Member Civil Service Dies in City

A co-worker on the construction of the Alberta Legislative building, John Hall, chief clerk of the superintendent of the buildings office, died in the city Tuesday evening.

Coming west some years before the present buildings were constructed, Mr. Hall first worked for the Canadian Pacific Railway in Lethbridge before coming to Edmonton where he went into the employ of the provincial government 35 years ago.

Mr. Hall was a prominent worker in the Civil Service association, was a member of the A.F. & A.M. and was a member of the Anglican church.

To survive him besides his wife, he leaves two sons, Frank and Arthur, both on active service, and one daughter, Kay, at home.

Funeral services will be held on Friday at Howard and McBride's funeral chapel with the Rev. W. M. Naisby officiating. Burial will take place in the Edmonton cemetery.

Recruiting Brisk With R.C.A.F. Here

Recruiting continues to be brisk at the R.C.A.F. Recruiting Centre, Edmonton, according to reports received Wednesday. Officials pointed out that many had apparently waited until after the New Year before deciding to get into the Force. Recruiting in both the men's and women's divisions is good.

New recruits include Douglas Baker, of Edmonton, who played on the Maple Leaf hockey and lacrosse hockey teams when they won the Alberta championship. He enlisted for general duties. He has a brother with the R.C.A.F. overseas.

Edmonton recruits included George Hillas, Andrew Watson and Gerald Zuzak.

Out of town recruits included Kenneth Bell, Clive; Roy Blair, Evansburg; Blair Houlette, Hollow Lake; Arthur Cuming, Barrhead; John Crowthers, Therien; Hugh Gillies, Peace River.

Navy Is Seeking More Tradesmen

Men with eight years of experience in the trades of machinist, boilermaking, welding and coppersmithing are required at once for enlistment in the Royal Canadian Navy, it was announced Wednesday by Sub-Lt. Bruce Sangster, recruiting officer at the R.C.N.V.R. recruiting establishment in Edmonton.

Men with the experience specified, will be assigned to work in naval dockyards and will receive the rating of engine room artificers. They need not have a higher medical rating than "B" and may be of the higher age bracket.

There are also openings in the navy at the present time for sailmakers, riggers and shipwrights. Men applying for enlistment in these trades do not necessarily need to have experience. They, too, may be of "B" medical category.

Application should be made with out delay to the local recruiting office on 102 street in Ross Flats.

Plan Early Call For Married Men

Officials of the Alberta National War Services Board said Wednesday military call-up notices will be sent in the next few days to married men between the ages of 19 and 25 in line with the recent proclamation act at Ottawa.

In addition, a special registration of unmarried men who have not yet received a notice to report for medical examination, will be carried on at the post office by registrars of mobilization boards.

"This registration applies to men within the call-up age groups, who have not received a notice to report for medical examination," an official said. "It is up to them to report and fill out registration forms."

Issue Proclamation Calling Members To Session Feb. 18

The proclamation proclaiming the session of the Alberta Legislative assembly that opens on Feb. 18, was issued Wednesday. Clerk of the Legislative Assembly Robert A. Andison, said.

The proclamation is issued by the provincial secretary and is signed by the lieutenant-governor, the provincial secretary and the attorney-general.

Monday, Feb. 8, is the last day on which petitions for private bills can be received, Mr. Andison stated. This fact will be advertised publicly and will also appear in the issue of the Alberta Gazette which will be published on Jan. 15.

Killed by Fall

HALIFAX, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Thomas H. Pett, an 18-year-old merchant seaman from Lancashire, England died in hospital here Monday night of injuries suffered when he fell 60 feet into the hold of a ship. There were no witnesses of the incident and Pett failed to recover consciousness.

Provincial Treasurer Hopes Nothing Drastic In Store for Albertans

With opening of the next session of the Alberta legislative assembly set for Feb. 18, Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer, revealed Wednesday that he is already busy with preparations for the budget to be presented to the assembly.

The minister declined, at this date, to make a prediction as to what is in store for Albertans in the shape of taxation, either as to taxes that will be continued, or any new ones that may be imposed.

What little he did say about the budget was of a decidedly hopeful nature. Asked by The Bulletin if there was anything in the form of "drastic" taxation in the offing, Mr. Low replied with a laugh:

"I have hopes we will not have in resort to anything very drastic in the way of taxation."

A recent development that would result in a serious loss of revenue are the restrictions imposed on the sale of liquor by the federal government. It has been estimated that Alberta might lose approximately $1,000,000 annually in revenue as the result of the new regulations.

TO BE DISCUSSED

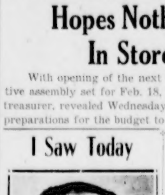

The whole question of liquor control and distribution is to be discussed at a meeting of provincial liquor board chairmen to be held in Toronto early in February, J. A. King, chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control board, is attending the conference as the representative of this province.

It is believed that some kind of uniformity of control among the provinces may be achieved that will cut down losses of revenue under existing conditions.

The World at War as It Looks in 1943

Greatest Population, Area of Earth on Allies' Side

Weary weeks of trekking through the North African desert behind the Axis lines finally brought Flight Sergt. R. L. Spence of the R.C.A.F. (right), and Sergt. J. K. Wood, Royal Australian Air Force, back to their own lines. They were members of the crew of a bomber which made a forced landing.

It takes no great stretch of imagination to figure why Los Angeles apparel manufacturers named Edith Leach the "model most likely to succeed."

Artist Depicts R.C.A.F. Attack

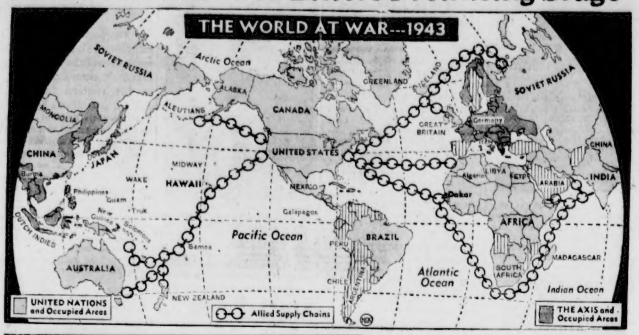

Constant vigilance of Royal Canadian Air Force crews patrolling long, wearying hours in fair weather and foul over the North Atlantic has been rewarded by a substantial toll of Nazi U-boats. From accurate details supplied by the crew of a Royal Canadian Air Force bomber which made what was believed to have been a successful attack, R.C.A.F. artist Donald Anderson has depicted the result of a direct hit by depth charges. The submarine was blown so far out of the water its propellors were visible, the navigator reported.

The beginning of 1943 finds the greatest number of nations in world history engaged in one common conflict—with 80 per cent of the area and 60 per cent of the population of the earth on the United Nations side. Even the 21 remaining neutrals—some of which have broken relations with the axis—are greater in area than the Axis and occupied areas, but Germany and Japan control some of the world's most populous regions. The maps show the world at war as it entered 1943 and as it looked on previous New Years.

Nutrition Head Arrives Here on Speaking Tour

Present day women are definitely more nutrition conscious than they were eight years ago, according to Frances I. McKay, director of field work for the Nutrition Fellowship in Applied Nutrition, who is on a tour of Canada sponsored by the fellowship. Miss McKay arrived in Edmonton Wednesday and will be here for two days.

At present she is on leave of absence from Manitoba, where she did extension work in the department of agriculture. Miss McKay is a noted authority on nutrition, having directed numerous nutrition campaigns, and also given many radio addresses. She is a graduate of the University of Manitoba in Household Economics.

Recently, she explained, she was touring Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and she found the women there extremely interested in foods with regard to health. Previously, she explained, when she was teaching economics in Manitoba schools, she found that housewives were interested in nutrition to the point of finding good recipes for cakes and cookies. Now they wish to learn all they can with regard to food and health.

When asked what she thought of the suggestion that rationing might become a hazard to nutrition, Miss McKay said that the foods that are acclaimed Canadians can very well do without. She explained that tea, coffee, sugar, although necessities to some extent, were not imperative to the life of the nation. But ter rationing, she said was a good policy for previously, those people who did not work late hours were able to go on early shopping tours and thus depleted the supply.

CONSCIOUS OF FOOD

It is partly because of the war, and mostly because of wide advertising, that Canadians have become more conscious of food values. Especially in eastern Canada, where war industry workers come and go at all hours, and where war factories push on to victory during the long night, nutritional literature is spreading. Lunches, small in size, but filled with the essential vitamins of a good diet must be studied.

In a recent survey made by the Canadian Council of Nutrition, figures for Canadian nutrition compared as follows: 40 per cent Canadians are adequately fed; 40 per cent are on the border line, and 20 per cent are below average for nutritional health. The survey was taken of Halifax, Montreal, Toronto and Edmonton.

IS WELL FED

When asked to give her opinions on the old controversy—Is Canada better fed than other nations?—she said that Canada is not better fed, but is well fed. This was a difficult question to answer, because Australia, England, the United States, and other countries do not indulge in the same foods as Canada. For an example, English guest children loved cheese, but refused to eat it with macaroni or toast. They were not accustomed to that way of serving it.

A WARNING

As a warning, she explained that "we have good food in Canada, but it can be spoiled by wrong cooking."

While in the city, Miss McKay will speak with the Edmonton Council of Nutrition, under direction of Miss E. A. Hastie, Wednesday afternoon; executive of the provincial nutritional committee, on Thursday afternoon; senior class in household economics at the University of Alberta, Thursday morning. She will also speak with Miss Vera Richards, women's extension work, department of agriculture, and Mrs. Frank Conroy, of the women's regional advisory committees to the consumer branch of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in Edmonton.

Club Activities

At the January meeting of the Fort Augustus Chapter I.O.D.E. held at the Macdonald hotel, donations were made to the following funds: Russian Relief, Polish Relief Fund for Minesweepers and Sailors, Not Forgotten Fund, Work in India, Milk for Britain, and the Navy Mothers' club. It was reported that treats were sent to soldier patients in the University hospital, and that a hamper of food and clothing was sent to an ex-serviceman's family. A parcel of knitted articles was sent to an R.A.F. station, and members of the Chapter assisted with the Christmas sale of Blindcraft held during December. More knitted articles were turned in by members. A nominating committee including Mrs. C. Warner and Miss I. Durrand was appointed. Presiding at the meeting was Miss T. N. Allen, Regent.

Jasper Pair Are Wed at Home Service

Christmas decoration provided the background for a wedding which took place in the latter part of December, at the home of Mr and Mrs. T. Mullen of Jasper, when their youngest daughter, Ann, exchanged marriage vows with Edward William Gross, also of Jasper. Officiating was the Rev. Father T. P. Wall.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose to wear a gold crepe afternoon frock, with black accessories and a shoulder corsage of deep red roses. Her only piece of jewelry was a string of pearls, wedding gift from a close friend.

Mrs. C. Mullen, sister-in-law of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore an ensemble of black and white check, with black accessories and carnations en corsage.

Best man was C. Mullen, brother of the bride.

A reception to 75 guests was held following the ceremony. Mrs. Mullen received in an afternoon dress of navy blue, with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of roses. Toast to the bride was proposed by the Rev. Father Wall. Later in the evening, a dinner party was held for 15 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Gross left later for a wedding trip to the Pacific coast. Travelling, the bride wore an ensemble of air force blue, and black accessories.

How to Make a Splendid Cough Syrup at Home

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicine usually contain a large proportion of sugar or honey. This recipe contains no sugar at all. It is a real saving for you, because it gives you four times as much cough syrup for the money. It tastes fine, never spoils, and children love it.

Simply put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup. Shake well. Or you can use honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16 ounce bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really splendid medicine for half winter coughs. It is doesn't please you in every way, you YOU WOMEN WHO SUFFER

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Separation of Couple Will Imperil Marriage

Tastes, Congeniality Are Well Tested in Cases of Mature People Who Are Considering Marriage; Religious Barriers Demand Tolerance

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been carried for ten years and have been very happy until nine months ago when my husband enlisted in the army. I am not unhappy about his being in the army, but my trouble is this: I am working in a town a hundred miles from where my husband's parents are keeping our 8-year-old child. I support her and visit her twice a month. My husband who is permanently stationed about 1000 miles from here, wants me to come and live with him and to leave our child with her grandparents until school is out.

Should I go to live with my husband, or wait until my child can go with me?

LONELY WIFE AND MOTHER

ANSWER: You should certainly go to live with youh husband as he wishes you to do and go at once. Nothing jeopardizes a marriage so much as for a husband and wife to be separated for a great length of time, and the more domestic-minded the man is, the greater the danger.

[illegible] The soldier, living in barracks, is in a different environment to that to which he is accustomed, and he is kept so busy he hasn't much time to get lonesome. Also, he is more or less segregated from feminine society, and so, to a great extent, removed from temptation.

But the married man who is housebroken, so to speak, who is used to a home and home comforts and spending his evenings in company with his wife, does not know what to do with himself when his routine is broken up. He doesn't [illegible] for himself that he has forgotten how to order a meal. It is lonesome going home to a room that is [illegible]

[illegible]

HAPPY WEDLOCK

DEAR MISS DIX: What chance of happiness in marriage has a woman in her forties who marries a man in his sixties. We have known each other twenty [illegible] get along nicely. [illegible] has grown ones of his own. His first wife, the mother of his children, he lost by death. His second wife by divorce. What do you think of the advisability of such a marriage.

ANXIOUS

ANSWER: It would take one of the major prophets to foretell whether any marriage will be a success or a failure. We have all seen so many marriages that seem to have been made in Heaven turn out to have been cooked up in the other place, and so many other marriages that we thought were destined to end in divorce before a year was over go blithely along to a golden wedding, that even the boldest of us hesitate to risk our reputations as soothsayers by expressing more than a general opinion that you never can tell how a wedding is going to turn out.

Certainly in your case the prognostication seems to be good. There is no discrepancy in your age that should cause trouble, because a woman in her forties, especially one who has been married and has a child, is practically in the same age class as a man in his sixties. And if you have known each other for twenty years, you should be able to judge whether you have enough tastes in common to be congenial and have learned enough about each other's tempers and dispositions to be able to determine whether you will be able to get along together comfortably or not.

The only matter in doubt to be considered is your prospective bridegroom's attitude towards the child. If you think he is likely to be jealous of your affection for her, or resent having to support her, I should earnestly advise you not to risk marriage with him, for nothing can make a woman so unhappy as to see her child mistreated by a stepfather.

Also, I think you will do well to find out the why of his divorce. That often throws a great light on a man's character. If his wife divorced him for [illegible] or for drunkenness or because he was a [illegible], watch your step and don't let it lead you to the altar.

DEMAND TOLERANCE

DEAR MISS DIX: I am very much in love with a young man who wants to marry me, but I feel that we would not make a go of our marriage because his religion is so entirely different from mine. His mother is very strict and insists upon his going to church twice on Sundays and never going to any place of amusement. But I have been brought up in a much broader [illegible] where we feel that dancing and sewing on Sundays, or indulging in any innocent pleasure is alright.

Do you think if I asked this boy to give up his church I would be asking too much? He will soon be going into the army and many people say that the army changes a man. Do you think, perhaps, he will change his mind and see how he has been tied down and come over to my way of thinking? Should I take a chance on this and accept his ring before he leaves?

TROUBLED

Answer: What are called "mixed marriages," that is a marriage between a man and a woman who have been brought up in different creeds and who look at religion from different viewpoints, never [illegible] except in the rare cases in which the husband and wife are big enough and broad enough to be willing to grant each other the privilege of worshipping God according to the dictates of their own consciences.

In the cases when each party is certain he or she is right and the other is wrong, and especially when each tries to convert the other to his or her own belief, they can make the most unhappy marriages in the world. For no wars are fought with such fanaticism and cruelty as holy wars. And that goes for individuals as well as nations.

[illegible]

It is quite true that going into the army will send your sweetheart back a changed man in [illegible]. Why don't you wait and see?

Don't Limit Fish To Friday Meals

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

More and more stores are carrying fish throughout the week. It is so important as an alternate for meat, which is restricted for war needs, that it deserves to be more than a once-a-week food.

Remember that fish is rich in proteins and minerals. But for safety's sake, include vitamin-rich foods in the menu when fish is used in place of meat, in order to supply the complete proteins.

POLLOCK STEAK MEAL
(serves 4 to 6)

Two tbs. butter or margarine, 4 to 5 medium potatoes, diced, 1 large onion, chopped, ½ green pepper, minced, 1 tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. pepper, 1 No. 2 can (2½ cups) tomatoes, 1½ lbs. pollock steaks, 1 tsp. celery salt.

Melt butter or margarine in deep skillet, add potatoes and cook until delicately brown on all sides. Add onion, minced pepper, seasonings and tomatoes; heat to boiling point. Place pollock steaks on top of vegetables, cover and cook over low heat 10 to 20 minutes, or until fish is tender. Remove to hot platter and serve at once.

BROILED BLUE PIKE WITH LEMON BUTTER
(serves 4)

Four blue pike, split (2 lbs.), salt, pepper, butter, 1 tbs. lemon juice, 2 tbs. finely chopped parsley, 1 tsp. paprika.

Sprinkle fish on both sides with salt and pepper. Place on well-greased broiler rack, flesh side up, dot with butter. Broil under a low flame about 10 minutes or until brown. Remove fish to platter. Melt 2 tbs. butter, add lemon juice, parsley and paprika, heat and pour over fish. Allow ½ lb. or more fish per serving.

Tomorrow's Menu

Breakfast: Stewed prunes, creamed codfish on toast, enriched rolls, coffee or milk.

Luncheon: Spaghetti with cheese, green salad, wholewheat bread, butter, stewed fruit, tea or milk.

Dinner: Cranberry juice, broiled blue pike with lemon butter, parsley boiled potatoes, stewed tomatoes with onions, squash pie, milk.

Debunker

Countless silly notions have grown up in connection with facial characteristics of people, and one of these is the idea that a person with a pug nose is very stubborn. Some persons even believe that this is inherited along with the [illegible]. Scientists who have studied [illegible] of faces and noses say that there is absolutely nothing to the idea of stubborn dispositions going with pug noses—in fact, some of the mildest-natured people have pug-noses, and some of the most stubborn have pointed noses. One's nose indicates nothing about him except that he can breathe and smell.

SANDWICHES

Most families nowadays have some member who requires a lunch box. Laura Pepper, chief of the consumer section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, suggests this recipe for a meat spread that is nutritious as well as delicious. Put scraps of any left-over cooked meat through the chopper to make 2½ cups ground meat. Add two tablespoonsful of grated onion and one-half cup tomato juice. Season with salt, a pinch of cayenne and one teaspoon chili powder. Cook stirring constantly until mixture is thoroughly blended and reaches boiling point—cool and store in a covered jar in the refrigerator.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Many a mother looks at the doubled up, apparently crooked legs of her tiny infant and imagines these to be bowlegs. She must recognize that all infants, due to their position before birth, have legs which during the first months do not straighten out easily. They fold back against the body when the baby is in repose.

This is far different from the bowlegs which develop as a result of rickets. Rickets is a disease of malnutrition which specifically shows up in the development of the bone and tooth structure of the body. These structures demand minerals from the diet.

For the best utilization of these minerals the body needs vitamin D which is present in foods of a proper diet and may be obtained in concentrated form in deep sea fish liver oils. Lack of food minerals and lack of vitamin D or a deficiency of either may leave the child's bones so soft that standing on them bends them out of shape. This is the type of bowlegs or knock-knees about which the mother legitimately may be worried.

Mrs. M.S.D. says her boy is 7 months old and weighs 21 pounds. "I have just had him to a doctor because his teeth were bothering him and the doctor says he has the beginning of rickets. His legs are bowed, but not as much as they were. The doctor found what he called a 'rosary' on his chest. The boy is so fat I imagine his bowlegs are natural.

"He is such a good baby and this is the first time I have had to take him to a doctor. He gets 4 cups of Grade A milk, 7 ounces of water and 7 tablespoons of maltose. He gets the yolk of an egg, his baby cereal and a vegetable and fruit at the 2 p.m. meal. He takes cereal with the night bottle. He takes 25 drops of concentrated oil. He doesn't care for fruit juices. Is there something missing in his diet? Should he have more orange juice? I am worried sick about him."

When you say his legs aren't as bowed as before I think you are referring to the position described first. The beading of the ends of the ribs called a "rosary" indicates some degree of rickets and I'd take the baby to the doctor monthly and let him watch the progress of his vitamin D dosages.

His diet is good, with the exception of fruit juices which are essential for the vitamin C factor, so if he refuses both tomato and orange juice in adequate amounts, let the doctor advise you about ascorbic acid tablets. With the diet as good as it is and adequate vitamin D I feel sure the rickets should clear up easily. Nature intended babies to have straight legs.

Our leaflet on "Rickets and the Vitamin D factors" may be had to help acquaint parents with the need for vitamin D in the diet daily. It may be had by sending a 3-cent stamped self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

McCoy Health Service

Milk may be considered one of the most healthful drinks because it contains most of the elements necessary for the body's nutrition. The raw, unpasteurized milk is the best to use, providing the source of supply is known to be healthy. Pasteurized milk does not have as great a food value as milk in the raw state due to its being heated to such a degree that some of the organic salts and vitamins are precipitated. The pasteurizing process kills some of the bacteria which causes milk to sour, and that is the reason why pasteurized milk will keep longer than the raw milk.

Milk is considered to be the richest source of natural calcium which is so necessary for helping to build strong teeth and bone. A very pleasant and healthful drink may be made by mixing equal parts of fresh milk and orange juice. This is a perfect combination and when the two are mixed together and well shaken, the milk is predigested to a certain extent.

Too little has been said of the health-giving properties of pure water, which is so necessary in cleansing the system of toxic wastes. When the urine becomes heavy and highly colored, this is an indication that more water should be taken. The condition is frequently evident during hot weather, and a large proportion of water is eliminated through the skin.

I am often asked whether it is advisable to drink water with meals. Some consider this to be injurious but my experience has been that there is no rule which can be laid down for everyone, and whether to drink water or not with meals is purely a matter of personal preference.

[illegible] types of citrus fruits are [illegible] recommended for their [illegible] properties and the juice of the orange, grapefruit and the lemon contain very high percentage of vitamin C, as well as important mineral salts. Unsweetened pineapple juice is also an excellent beverage and these juices are ready available in cans during the off season. The canned variety may not taste quite like the freshly squeezed juice, but there is very little variation in the vitamin content.

I do not recommend carbonated drinks due to the fact that the affect the stomach and intestines by the generation of gas from the carbonated water. The various brands of pop on the market usually consist of water, sugar or glucose, and some imitation fruit flavor, plus artificial coloring.

In looking over the entire list of beverages available for everyday use, I am convinced that milk is the most healthful, but it should never be taken at the ordinary meal. Many people do not know that to drink milk when eating either fish or meat, forms one of the most incompatible of food mixtures.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large, stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

MRS. SMUTS HONORED

PRETORIA, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Mrs. Sybella Margaretha Smuts, wife of Prime Minister Jan Christiaan Smuts, will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Witwatersrand University in recognition of her services to South Africa.

INCREASED PRODUCTION

LONDON. — (CP) — The British Ministry of Agriculture has employed almost every means of increasing milk production, with one of the most successful a Victory Churn contest in which the milk-producing areas are divided into six leagues.

Standings are issued periodically, with Pembrokeshire leading the Welsh league and the entire country in the latest tabulations. Other figures given show that 37 of the 61 counties marketed more milk during the last surveyed period, September, than they did in the comparable month of 1941.

When the current contest ends in March, 1943, a silver Victory Churn, provided by an anonymous donor, will be given jointly to the six league champions.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS— —By Blosser

SO YOUR HUSBAND'S GONE TO WAR!

by ETHEL GORHAM whose husband is at war

CHAPTER FOUR HIRE FOR WAGES

MOST women who have husbands who have gone to the wars are workingwomen. As time goes on, the 1-A classification may also include men whose wives are able to work if necessary, but to date it has reached out only toward those husbands whose wives already have jobs. If you could take care of yourself, the draft board reasons, your husband could take care of Jerry.

But what about job? Most women who work have found their jobs mainly in the following fields: social service, the retail trades, the clothing industry, the textile mills, the advertising business, professional work teaching, or as a stenographer or clerk. Some of you may have had manufacturing and mechanical jobs. Some of you may have worked in canneries, on farms, on the stage, in the movies. Of approximately six hundred occupations listed in this country only about thirty have been closed to women in the last decade.

But times have changed. Women are taking over and replacing men in jobs rarely done before by the female of the species. Hotel elevator operators, pharmacists in drug stores, taxi drivers, bank tellers, electricians, acetylene welders, milling-machine operators, riveters, tool keepers, gate checkers, gear cutters, turret and engine lathe operators.

Women are replacing men as fingerprint classifiers. Women have been reported directing landings and take-offs by radio. There is one woman now working at an airfield office as a meteorologist.

The civil aeronautics administration is considering training women as radio operators. And a major chemical company is schooling a handful of women as its chemists.

Even the Ford Company, which formerly restricted women to detail jobs connected with the wiring of automobile ammeters and generators, is this year talking of expanding the number of women employees in their new bomber plant to twenty-five thousand. Aviation factories, late the stronghold of skilled men mechanics, are now crying for women, the only stipulation an intensive six weeks to five months' course in vocational schools where prospective employees can take classes in machine-shop science, mathematics, blueprints, and machine tools.

As more and more of the consumer industries vanish, there will be a new expansion in the other non-consumer jobs. It is estimated that if the war continues until the end of 1943 there will be four million women needed in war industry. "Woman power" the economists call it, the woman power of American victory. You can become part of this "woman power" on the production line of a factory. Gone is the social stigma of factory work when so many teachers, nurses, and even socially prominent women are doing it. White-collar snobbishness has been wiped out by the influx of stenographers and saleswomen to the assembly belt. Moved by patriotism or by dollars, many women who never would have considered factory work a year or two ago are making application now.

Before you hop out of a civilian job to one in wartime production, remember first that what often looks like a straight "peacetime" job may be as important and vital to winning the war as the more dramatic-sounding one of aircraft production or munitions making. Second, that you must look to your training and be prepared. You are much more valuable skilled than unskilled, and skill doesn't come with good intention alone. If you have had industrial training previously or worked on a farm you will be more adaptable and "durable" now. For instance, girls who were needleworkers or hairdressers have proved especially adaptable for precision metal work.

There is a training period necessary for almost all skilled jobs. You can no more go into drafting or radio service or machine shop work without some apprenticeship than a man could. You cannot be used for immediate replacement where the job requires time to develop high skills unless you have some background of instruction, practice, and information.

Go to one of the many industrial schools in the evening, continuing the while on the job you now hold during the day. Factories in war-production areas run their own schools, rather like apprentice courses. The public-school systems often have their own industrial and technical evening curricula. There are technical training schools set up at various airports, mostly run by the government. Courses in aircraft designing, physics, chemical analysis, and drafting are open to approved applicants. There are some top-notch legitimate private schools—but warning! There are some so-called technical training schools that won't train you for anything but writing a tuition cheque.

Not only the women who have been industrially trained, but those practiced in management and personnel will find a new place for themselves in these gigantic new plants. Bookkeepers, accountants, stenographers, all can go into the multitude of openings in factories that have to be filled. But when one talks of war production, one need not necessarily mean putting every white-collar girl on a conveyor belt.

Many women have become part of the new "woman power" by going into the government itself. The increase in official white-collar jobs is staggering in total. Before you consider it for yourself, remember that most of the jobs are in Washington and it means packing up and dashing off to that beautiful, overcrowded city on the Potomac. The place is like a boom town, everyone says, difficult to live in, expensive, feverish, and dull.

If you have been a housewife who said to your husband, "Join up if you like, darling, I'll find something to do," there are a number of places for you in this new "woman power." There is a great need for nursery-school helpers, canteen management experts, welfare supervisors, and hospital assistants. Some of these are volunteer jobs, which you cannot afford to take full time, but many are government paid and extremely useful to boot.

Some women in small towns surrounded by large rural areas have taken over domestic jobs on farms in order to free the farm women for work on the farm itself. It is hard work but eminently practical. It pays very little but will keep you for the duration. And any kind of farm job that helps fill the nation's food basket is at the core of the war effort.

A very important kind of work and of particular interest to married women with children is part-time work. Many factories are allowing for it. They say that it wipes out one of the worst features of having women work on the assembly line: the tendency to stay out due to fatigue or home duties or time of month.

Labor Minister Grieved at Death Of Coast Official

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell, advised yesterday of the death at Vancouver of James H. McVety, regional superintendent of the Unemployment Insurance Commission for the Pacific region said "it is with deep regret that we have heard of the untimely passing of James H. McVety. Jim McVety has been widely known throughout labor circles in Canada for a generation, and before joining the staff of the British Columbia labor department at the close of the last war, he was a notable figure in the labor movement.

"We feel that we have suffered a very real loss in losing such a chief officer for unemployment insurance and selective service in British Columbia."

Canadian Corps Group Selects New Committee

Chairman of the nominating committee for 1943 elections of the Canadian Corps Association will be John Turner, first vice-president. Mr. Turner, who will be assisted by Arnold Tayler, secretary, was chosen at the meeting of the association held Tuesday night in the Masonic Temple.

Others chosen for the committee were: First Division, R. Ronahan; Second Division, Joseph Thompson; Third Division, T. Robb; Fourth Division, L. O. Suendsen and Corps Troops, Mr. Suendsen.

Nominations for the elections must be in the hands of the nominating committee by Jan. 15. They must be signed by members of the divisions.

Guest speaker at the meeting was Lt. Col. H. E. Pearson, M.C., officer commanding the 2nd (Reserve) Battalion Edmonton Fusiliers, who was introduced by Mr. Turner. The changed position of the Reserve Army in Canada since the entry of Japan into the war was outlined by Lt. Col. Pearson who stated that it played on increasingly important position.

He called for recruits from the Canadian Corps Association to join the Fusiliers. "Those of you who have time and energy should do so," he said.

Other business at the meeting included a report from A. Smith, chairman of the hospital visiting committee.

Moving pictures were shown and band numbers were presented by the Boys' Fife, Drum and Bugle band under the direction of Thomas Duguid.

Increased Hog Production Is Said Unlikely

Seventy per cent. of the farmers in Alberta will not be able to raise more hogs in 1943 than they did in 1942, H. E. Nichols stated Wednesday, following compilation of returns from 600 questionnaires circularized among representative farmers in all parts of the province.

Mr. Nichols stated that unless the Dominion government ensure that a parity price be paid farmers for their hogs there is "grave danger" that there will not be sufficient co-operation enlisted to ensure the reaching of the 1943 quota of 675,000,000 pounds of bacon for Britain.

WESTERN PRICE

He stated further that the parity price for hogs, based on calculations of price levels of other commodities is $22 per hundred on rail at main western points.

Since skilled help is much more expensive than the present price of hogs justifies a farmer in hiring, there is grave fear that many farmers with their depleted family help will not be able to undertake increased hog production, he stated.

Results of the questionnaire indicate that 70 per cent. of the farmers will not be able to increase their stock of hogs. 23 per cent. will be able to increase slightly and seven per cent. stated that they will be forced to diminish their hog population.

Among the various reasons for their inability to increase their supply in 1943, the farmers listed high wages, labor shortage, lack of housing facilities and the low price of hogs as the four main reasons.

ARP Meetings

Air raid precautions meetings have been arranged at several city schools and community halls according to a program released by Capt. A. J. Huff, chief air raid warden. No meetings will be held Wednesday evening.

First aid classes will be held at each meeting with the exception of that at Forest Heights school on Thursday and the Highlands school on Friday when the movie, "The Bombing of Nottingham" will be shown. All meetings commence at 8 p.m.

THURSDAY, JAN. 7

McCauley school, first aid; Forest Heights school, movie, "The Bombing of Nottingham".

FRIDAY, JAN. 8

Highlands school, movie, "The Bombing of Nottingham"; Parkdale school first aid; Queen Alex school, first aid.

University Animal Sets Month's Record

The largest record of performance test reported during the last month from a Holstein herd in the Edmonton district was that of Ualta Sylvia Dixie owned by the University of Alberta. Starting as a five-year-old, she gave 17,312 pounds of milk containing 571 pounds of fat in 365 days. Daleford Lola Posch, a gold medal cow owned by J. W. Hosford, South Edmonton, finished in the same class with 528 pounds fat from 14,186 pounds milk while her stablemate, Daleford Mona Inka, made 531 pounds fat from 11,919 pounds milk in the mature class of the 365 day division. Calaide Ann Armistice Heilo, a two-year-old from the herd of G. M. Gibb, South Edmonton, produced 345 pounds fat from 16,461 pounds milk in 365 days. All these records were made on twice-a-day milking.

Louis XV of France presented his eldest daughter with an Easter egg which enclosed a clockwork bird capable of singing.

Ration Books Are Given Varied Treatment by City, Rural Users

This Is What Baby Did

Many and diverse are the stories that go with damaged ration books, officials of the ration office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board find.

While city ration book owners are careless enough, they're not as bad as country owners, say officials. Not content with letting the baby eat the ration book, often they are careless enough to leave the trim little folders to the tender mercies of the farm animals.

Coupons, in ribbons and scarred with shears come in with the comment that "this is what baby did."

Perhaps a cow has stepped on the book—and the book certainly looks like it—or the pet pup made a meal off it.

NO IMPROVEMENT

Ration books are not improved by falling into dirty water in a coal mine nor being run over by a truck, officials find.

One small boy found that each coupon was an ideal size for popgun pellets.

One day there were two names on one affidavit for the same man. Johnny Bull has lost his ration book and wanted another. After signing the affidavit, which is necessary before obtaining another ration book, he added a memo: "Johnny Shorthorn is the same as Joe Bull."

Army Accepting 17-Year-Old Boys

Boys of 17 are being accepted for trade training in the Canadian Active Army, according to Major J. B. Gainor, M.C., district recruiting officer.

Previously, it had been reported from Ottawa that 17-year-olds would be accepted, but official notice from Ottawa had not been received at once, Major Gainor said. As a result, some boys were not taken when they applied at the recruiting centre.

However, the situation has been clarified, and arrangements have been made to accept the youths Major Gainor urged the boys who had been turned down previously to call again at the recruiting office.

The move is designed to give young men necessary trades and elementary training during the time immediately prior to their attainment of the full age of 18 normally required for enlistment.

It is pointed out that applicants who are only 17 must bring the written consent of his parents or guardian to the recruiting office with him.

Sleet Visits City When Temperature Gradually Ascends

Edmonton residents, who wondered what in the way of weather was coming when sleet started to fall at regular intervals during Wednesday morning, need not worry for such storms are quite in the regular scheme of things, according to Mrs. W. H. Owen, head of the Dominion meteorological station here.

The temperature has been rising steadily since Wednesday morning, explained Mrs. Owen, and the natural result of such a rise is the sudden descent of moisture. The temperature rose from a minimum of one above early Wednesday morning to 37 above shortly before noon.

Rain or its winter equivalent, sleet, is nearly always to be expected during the month of January, Mrs. Owen said.

Farmer Loses Arm

Albert Kirchner, 24, of Huggett, had his arm amputated in the University hospital Tuesday night as the result of an accident on his mother's farm Tuesday afternoon. His arm was caught in a feed chopper and crushed. The young man was rushed to hospital in the family car.

At Wainwright

Lt.-Col. P. V. Harcourt, D.C.M., district engineer office, M.D. 13, left Edmonton for Wainwright Wednesday to look over the progress of work there on the new army training centre, now under construction.

PRIVATE BREGER ABROAD - - By Sgt. Breger

R. D. Purdy, Calgary, general manager, Alberta Wheat Pool, who arrived in Edmonton Wednesday on a routine business trip. He is a guest at the Macdonald hotel.

over times got bad and, except for a few little spurts things became worse and worse, until 1939 and then you know what happened. The other day I talked to a man who told me he made $500 with his truck in four weeks, doing road work in the north.

"Now take my own case. I have enough put by to get through the winter all right, and at my age I don't feel capable of doing real hard work. But they come after me the other day and wanted me to go to work in a logging camp. About three years ago nobody came looking for me to go to work.

"In every war they're very anxious for me to work. In between wars I can't get work. What's the answer?" Ollie asked.

We admitted we hardly felt qualified to give a complete answer, but we told Ollie he was only one of many thousands who were pondering that same problem.

Nobody seemed to have noticed it at the time, but nobody really celebrated New Year's Eve in a fashion technically correct this year. When the bells, whistles, horns and other disturbers were clanging, shrieking and honking at the alleged midnight hour it really wasn't midnight at all. The whole country—don't forget—was on war saving time and everybody celebrated an hour too soon the passing of the old and the arrival of the New Year.

This startling state of general confusion was brought to our attention, but the other morning by the alert director of publicity for the Province of Alberta, Mr. Dan Campbell. The observation was made during a discussion of time and time zones between Mr. Campbell and Mr. L. R. Byrne, technical advisor to the Social Credit Party. We listened with rapt attention.

After making the disclosure Mr. Campbell followed with a solemn warning that the fact a person has not celebrated at a time scientifically correct is not a good excuse for staging a second celebration on the New Year's arrival.

Cine Club Holds Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of the Edmonton Cine club was held in the Masonic Temple on Monday night. The speaker of the evening was J. Gordon Sinclair, who gave a talk on "Composition" as it is applied to photography. This was followed by movies shown by Alfred Patterson including pictures taken around Edmonton, and on a trip to the World's Fair at San Francisco in 1937. Flight Lieut. Penfield of the R.C.A.F. spoke on the need for photographers in the air force. The next meeting will be on Jan. 18.

Lengthy Search By R.C.M.P. Is Brought to End

The R.C.M.P. slogan they "get their man" was again verified in city police court Wednesday, when Frank Shulin appeared to answer two charges arising out of incidents that occurred in 1937. Shulin was brought here from Toronto where he has been employed in a munitions plant for the last three years.

According to R.C.M.P. evidence given during preliminary hearing Wednesday, Shulin was charged in 1937 with being in charge of a car while intoxicated. He was remanded in custody for several days then granted bail on Oct. 1. Five days later Shulin failed to appear in court to answer the charge and has been the object of a search by R.C.M.P. ever since.

He was brought here from Toronto to face the original charge as well as a charge of failing to appear in court. He was remanded for trial in supreme court, with a suggestion from Magistrate Millar that he may choose speedy trial if he so desires.

The magistrate's suggestion came following the appeal of the accused for lenient and speedy justice to enable him to return to his war work as soon as possible.

Trucks in Crash In City Streets

A panel truck and fire truck tangled at the intersection of 1st street and 107 avenue at 5:40 p.m. Tuesday when the panel truck skidded into the path of the fire truck. Damage to the extent of $100 was done to the front left corner of the delivery truck which is the property of Macdonald's Consolidated Wholesale.

Frank Graham, 7710 112 avenue, driver of the delivery truck was approaching 98 street along 101 avenue when he heard the fire siren. Upon applying the brakes his truck skidded onto the intersection into the path of a fire truck from hall five, driven by Stanley Lucas.

The left rear's fender, and an equipment box were damaged on the fire truck. The firemen were answering a call to 97 street and 106 avenue, which turned out to be a false alarm.

U.S. Army's Health "Extremely Good"

Health of United States army personnel in the North West Command is extremely good, and the spirit of the men excellent, according to Col. W. F. Von Zelinski, chief medical officer of the command stationed at Whitehorse, who arrived in Edmonton Wednesday on his way to that northern post.

He said that service men were now being granted leaves to visit their homes, most of the men going on leave returning to the United States.

Col. von Zelinski saw service on the Mexican border, was with the Army of Occupation in Germany in the last war, and saw service in many of the battles during that war in which the units of the American army participated.

Eleven Girls Leave To Start Training At Eastern Depots

Eleven young Alberta girls left here Tuesday night to embark on a new life and a new career, and for Manning Depots to become members of the R.C.A.F. Women's Division.

Two of the girls are from Edmonton One is Mary Ellen Brake of 10134 108 street. The other is Doris Parker of 11745 83 street. Mary Ellen wants to be a teleprinter operator and Doris Parker preferred the trade of general duties.

Rose Marie Wagner, an attractive 18-year old brunette, joined up as a cook. Despite her youth, she has had experience in housework around her own home and feels that this is the trade in which she can best serve.

Another girl is Muriel Green of Dewberry. Muriel has her B.A. from the University of Alberta and has been teaching at Rimbey. She has expressed a desire to become a transport driver. Others in the party include Lottie M. McLean of Silver Heights, Eva and Margaret Shand of Provost, Elizabeth Meyers, Berwyn; Jessie Dempster, Clyde; Emily Marek, Grande Prairie and Irene Hodgson of Vermilion.
